Its method of insurance is the strongest, because it is based on the safest examination and the most careful supervision.

Its information is the fullest, because it furnishes abstracts in addition to an opinion and a policy.

Its policies are universally accepted by individuals, trustees and corporations.

It has complete locality and nominal plants of the Counties of New York, Kings and Westchester.

Index to Record and Guide Vol. LXXIV.

For New York Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages, Projected Buildings and Advertisers.

NOS. 1894 TO 1920. JULY—DECEMBER, INCLUSIVE. 1904.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

PREFACE.

The following is the semi-annual Index of Volume LXXIV. of The Record and Guide, containing complete lists of the Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages and Buildings Projected in New York City during the last six months of 1904. Those wishing to keep a file for permanent reference should see that all the numbers are complete and have them bound. Cost of binding $2.00 per volume. A suitable temporary binder, holding one volume, can be obtained at the office, 14 and 16 Vesey street; price, one dollar.

THE KEY.

* Before any page No. indicates an Auction Sale.

† Before any page No. indicates a New Building Projected.

Figures in parenthesis are leases.

Figures preceded by capital letters are mortgages, said capital letter indicating the first letter of the name of the mortgagor.

Figures without any signs whatsoever are Conveyances.

EXAMPLE.

Cherry st, from Jackson to Corlears..14, L 26, M 26, †90, (305), 631, L 639, M 639, *731, 850, (858), M 862, †867, 973, (984), L 989, 1166, N 1177, 1290, E 1308.

On page *731 an Auction Sale will be found.

On page 14 a Conveyance will be found.

On pages L 26, M 26, Mortgages will be found.

On page †90 will be found Plans for a New Building.

On pages (305), (858), Leases will be found.

AUCTION SALES.

The * appearing before any number indicates the page on which to find an Auction Sale.

CONVEYANCES.

are distinguished by numbers without having signs attached thereto. In many instances there will be found streets, etc., indexed under pages which, on being examined, show at once that they are not in their proper order according to our customary alphabetical and numerical arrangement. A further examination will disclose the fact that while the properties appear more prominently under the other street descriptions, they nevertheless extend to the streets, etc., indicated by the Index, and having a frontage on same have been included in the paging, and it will necessitate a somewhat more thorough search than usual to locate it. The Leases, Mortgages, Auction Sales and Projected Buildings are indexed in a similar manner to the plan followed with the Conveyances.

LEASES.

The figures in parenthesis denote that the transaction on the page given is Leasehold, an assignment of lease or a lease running for a short or long term of years. This explanation is made so that subscribers searching for transfers in fee can at once distinguish between the former and the latter without referring to the pages mentioned.

MORTGAGES.

All the mortgages are indexed against the street or avenue in which the property is located, and memoranda added to enable searchers to find the particulars in "The Record and Guide." See "Example." The streets and avenues are so subdivided that very few references are necessary. All readers of "The Record and Guide" are aware that the mortgages appear weekly in alphabetical order, so that they have, so to speak, a weekly index of mortgagors. This publication of an index against property completes the information which those interested may require.

PROJECTED BUILDINGS

are included under the same general heading, and are distinguished by the † which precedes the numbering.

Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages and Projected Buildings.

STREETS.

NOTE.—Longitudinal streets, roads and places, such as the Bowery, Boulevard, Broadway, etc., which run parallel with the various avenues, will be found in alphabetical order amongst the avenues.

Record and Guide Quarterly
The annual number of the Record and Guide Quarterly contains all the legal records for the past year concerning real estate and projected buildings, arranged alphabetically and numerically, with invaluable annotations. These are supplemented by tables of important transactions, with typical prices, covering the past quarter of a century or more, accompanied by expert comments; also by a list of realty corporations created during the past two years, with officers and the enterprises in which they are engaged. The whole makes a volume of reference which no real estate man can afford to be without. It should be on every desk and in every library. Its cost is as nothing compared to its value as a time-saver. This important work can be obtained, with three quarterly numbers, for the comparatively small sum of $20. It is published by the Record and Guide, at Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., where interested parties may see it and have its uses explained to them. If you cannot call, drop a postal card to the Publisher, or call him up on telephone 3157 Cortlandt.

Vol. LXXIV. JULY 2, 1904. No. 1894

IT looks as if the summer, in spite of the dullness which has settled down upon the market, will be even more fertile than the winter in the announcement of large and interesting improvements. During the week two new buildings of the first magnitude have been foreshadowed by the news. One is an apartment house on Central Park West on the block front just north of the Dakota, while the other is a monster hippodrome for the old car-barn site on Sixth Avenue, between Forty-third and Forty-fourth Streets. Both of these projects are well conceived. The block front on Central Park West is one of the choicest sites in the whole city for an apartment house of the first class. Several of the largest buildings of this kind are situated in the vicinity, and have proved to be very successful; and the availability of the neighborhood for large apartment houses will be very much increased by the express station of the subway at Seventy-second Street. Indeed, it may be confidently predicted that eventually the area within five or six blocks in every direction from the subway station will be occupied to a very considerable extent by apartment houses; that it will become the best district for this kind of buildinig in the city. It is significant that the present improvement is to be a house-keeping building instead of a residence hotel. A couple of years ago the other type would probably have been preferred; but the house-keeping apartments have now resumed the precedence, which normally they ought to possess. As to the Hippodrome, that is a venturesome interprise; but the success of the Coney Island resorts leads one to suppose that similarly novel and varied entertainments ought to be a popular success in New York during the winter months. In calculating the chances in favor of an enterprise that depends on the popular favor of hundreds of thousands of people, it must be remembered that the improved communications which are under construction with the Bronx, Long Island and New Jersey will not only enable more people to live outside of Manhattan, but they will enable everybody who does live out of Manhattan to come in to that borough for their amusements and supplies much more than they do at present. The proposed site on Sixth Avenue, between Forty-third and Forty-fourth Streets, is probably the most available one of the kind left in the city. A location a few blocks near Herald Square would have been a little more convenient; but it would be extremely difficult and expensive to secure another piece of property in that vicinity which would be large enough for the purpose. As it is, the old car-stable site is in the very heart of the amusement section. It will be as convenient as possible to all the people who use the elevated roads and the subway, present and past, and to all those who are or will be served by the Grand Central terminal. Furthermore, it will not be actually inconvenient to suburban families who are obliged to use the Pennsylvania and Long Island trains. It is distinctly encouraging to see large enterprises of this kind again being seriously considered. It is such projects which make Manhattan the playground not merely of the metropolitan district, but of the whole country—thereby adding in more ways to its prosperity.

THE case of Thirty-fourth Street is very different. From Sixth Avenue to Fourth Avenue it was occupied by wealthy people, and its business development was hindered by the high price at which property was held, and by the tenacity with which the residents of the street clung to their locations. After the erection of the Waldorf-Astoria and the Astor Court building, however, it became inevitable that the residences should yield to business buildings. For a long time, however, they yielded very slowly; and it is only during the past few years that rapid progress has been made. The great distinction of Thirty-fourth Street is that it derives its character from Fifth Avenue rather than Sixth Avenue, and in the case of Fifth Avenue, its property values have been steadily increasing, even during the comparative dullness of the past year. A number of important retail firms of the better class have bought situations on the block; and it is also becoming a local business and financial center. The North River Savings Bank, which has just bought, is the fifth bank to secure quarters near the Waldorf-Astoria, and there will soon be a half a dozen good sized office buildings on the street. All these business enterprices depend upon a few well-to-do customers, but there are also signs that the street will eventually assume a more popular and populated aspect. The store of R. H. Macy & Co. draws, of course, enormous crowds, and an important dry goods shop will be situated at Fifth Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street. The proposed subway under the street will also make it much more accessible than it now is; and eventually, of course, the Pennsylvania terminal will influence the character of the whole street, and particularly of those blocks between Sixth and Eighth Avenues. In the easterly direction business will eventually spread as far over as the Fourth Avenue subway. The progress during the next few years will be quite as rapid as it has been recently, for several of the bigger business and building projects which are awaiting a favorable opportunity to come to a head, are concerned with Thirty-fourth Street prospects. On the whole it is likely to be the most important and architecturally the most interesting crosstown street in the city.

THE members of the Rapid Transit Commission who refused to consent to the abandonment of the Sixth Avenue route for the proposed subway connecting with the New Jersey trolley tunnel, should persist in their refusal. The Herald Square terminal is incomparably the better one; and Sixth Avenue could not be devoted to a better purpose than the one proposed. Sixth Avenue runs only from Ninth to Fifty-ninth Streets, and consequently is not as available for a subway as some of the other longitudinal avenues. It is true that Sixth Avenue should be cut through toward the south until it connects with Varick Street; but even if the avenue were extended, a Sixth Avenue subway could only run north of Fifty-ninth Street by means of tunnelling under the park. Neither Fifth Avenue nor Madison Avenue could be used for the purpose. Central Park West should be reserved for an Eighth Avenue subway, and with a four-track underground road on Eighth Avenue and on Broadway, the West Side would have all the transit service it needs. It would be very bad economy to cut the trolley tunnel off from that useful connection on the ground that perhaps fifty years from now even Sixth Avenue might have its uses for a through line. While it is possible that a couple of generations hence this would be true, there can be no doubt that during the first half of the twentieth century the proposed Sixth Avenue connection would be enormously useful to a million or more people. It is not that we object to a terminal near Mr. Wanamaker's store—a subway across the city would make a useful feeder to the river tunnel. Why not build both? If, however, a selection has to be made, the Sixth Avenue route should be the one selected.

THE bricklayers would make a grave mistake in striking for an advance in wages at the present juncture. It is not merely that the increase could not possibly be granted, but that a cessation of building under existing circumstances would take bread out of the mouths of everybody connected with the building trades in New York City. There can be no doubt that the strike of last spring diminished by a good many million dollars the amount of money which is being put into new Manhattan buildings this summer. It has not stopped the speculative building of tenements; but it did discourage the erection of large buildings, requiring the investment of considerable sums of money. And if that strike were followed by another shut-down this summer, the effect would be both to stop the current rapidly expanding building of tenements, and seriously to affect the excellent prospects for a good building year in 1905. While the Record and Guide has every sympathy with the efforts of the mechanics to obtain better wages and shorter hours whenever conditions are favorable, it must be admitted that just now conditions are absolutely unfavorable. The great necessity is a decrease in the cost of construction, which is already so high as seriously to hamper building operations. Many of the shrewdest and best informed architects and builders in New York believe that building operations will not revive until the labor cost is lowered. In this opinion they are probably wrong. It looks as if building would adjust itself to the prevailing labor cost; and even if this adjustment took some time, it would be better to wait until the adjustment is made rather than to disturb the existing peace in the building trades. But while wages may not have to come down, they cannot be increased for the present. The margin of profit on building operations is already too small. Furthermore, if the bricklayers were granted an increase of five cents an hour, the employers would have many more such demands on their hands next winter and spring. If the issue is raised, it must be fought out at once, and that decisively.

IT is interesting to remark that the development of Thirty-fourth Street and Forty-second Street are taking on every character from the development of Fourteenth Street and Twenty-third Street. This second group of crosstown streets derived their importance exclusively from the retail trade. A number of large shops secured locations on each of the streets, and these large shops brought with them a great many smaller ones. Those which were situated on Twenty-third Street, sold on the whole a higher class of goods than those which were situated on Fourteenth Street, and they were housed for the most part in better buildings. The growth of Fourteenth Street was retarded from the first by the lack of building enterprise on the part of its real estate owners. Nevertheless, both streets took their character from Sixth Avenue. That thoroughfare, from Fourteenth to Twenty-third Streets, was the most popular avenue for the retail trade, and the crosstown streets obtained the overflow. But high values on the streets did not travel west of Sixth Avenue or east of Broadway on either of them. There were two blocks of highly concentrated activity which petered out as soon as the important longitudinal thoroughfares were crossed. The business development of Thirty-fourth Street and Forty-second Street has been very different, although these differences have not prevented the value of property from increasing to the level which prevailed further south. Forty-second Street assumed a business character before Thirty-fourth Street did, because of the railroad terminal on that street. The Grand Central Station not only gathered in its immediate vicinity a large number of hotels, but it created a good deal of business of one kind or another. It was chiefly a matter of retail stores, such as supplied people who were hurrying to trains, or the better class of suburban residents. Still it was sufficient to give the street an active appearance, and to run up the value of property to very considerable figures. Recently these causes of business activity have had even a greater effect. The proposed improvement of the Grand Central terminal, while it will in the end enable the suburban passengers to pass by Forty-second Street in reaching their destinations, will also greatly augment the traffic importance of that terminal, and consequently the business importance of the street on which it is situated. Furthermore, two new and large hotels are being built, and near Broadway the street is being much benefited by the growth of the whole Long Acre Square district. Property owners on the street feel that they have so far been rather injured than helped by the tunnel; but they have been helped more than they know. The eastward turn of the subway at Forty-second Street has been a most efficient agent in the concentration of the theatrical and restaurant interest in the vicinity of Long Acre Square; and as time goes on, this interest will become an enormous source of profitable business. Altogether, Forty-second Street presents a rather mixed appearance, as is natural considering the mixed sources from which its prosperity is derived; but these sources are capable of indefinite augmentation. They keep the street lively from Eighth Avenue on the west almost to Lexington Avenue on the east.

The Building of Private Dwellings.

THE building of private dwellings in Manhattan is making a new low record during the present year. Only ten years ago an average of 800 buildings of this class were erected in Manhattan during the course of one year, at a cost of about $8,000,000. During 1900, 1901 and 1902 the number decreased to about a hundred, and the amount invested to about 5 or 6 million dollars. There were not many of them; but they were handsome and costly. In 1903 there was a further decrease to 56, representing an investment of less than $3,000,000, and even this low-water mark will be lowered during the current year. The number of dwellings, for which plans have been filed up to date is 30, and their estimated cost $946,500, while the corresponding numbers for 1903, were 39 and $2,047,000. This shows a small decrease in the number of private residences to be erected, but a very large one in the average cost of each residence. It will diminish from about $50,000 in 1903, to about $30,000 in 1904. Of the 30 residences, for which plans have been filed so far during the current year, 18 of them are to be built on Washington Heights, which accounts for the cheaper average of each dwelling.

No doubt during 1905 a marked change will take place in these figures; and it is not only possible, but probable that during the coming year some hundreds of dwellings will be erected on Washington Heights. Nevertheless, the Record and Guide is being more and more forced to the conclusion that there will be a very much smaller proportion of dwellings built upon Washington Heights than there were on the West Side. It is not a point on which one would care to prophecy too confidently; but it looks very much as if a marked revival in the building of private dwellings in Manhattan cannot be brought about even by the opening up of comparatively cheap and available land on Washington Heights. Apparently the cheaper grade of private dwelling cannot compete with the medium-priced apartment—a conclusion which is justified by the real estate history of the past few years.

If private dwellings are to be built and sold again in large numbers they must not cost the purchaser more than $25,000; and, of course, the nearer they can be put upon the market at $15,000 the better. There will always be a demand for residences that cost $30,000 or more, but that demand must be small compared to the demand for the cheaper grades of dwellings. Residences that cost the purchaser from $15,000 to $25,000 represent a rent-paying capacity of from $1,000 to $1,800 per annum, and compete consequently with apartments that fetch figures near and between those limits. But it is just the people whose incomes permit them to pay a rent ranging from $1,000 to $1,800 a year, who are beginning more and more to prefer apartments to private dwellings. Whether the change is due to the increased price of domestic service, or to the increased attractiveness and convenience of the average apartment, there can be little doubt that the cheap Manhattan dwelling is losing in the race with the medium-priced flat.

Ten years ago the demand for private dwellings in Manhattan was sufficient to absorb about 800 new ones every year. When builders began to build fewer residences, owing to the increased price of land on the West Side, it might have been supposed that the demand which had been sufficient to take up 800 or more dwellings every year, and which no longer had anything like that number of new structures offered to satisfy it,—it might have been supposed that this demand would have had a considerable effect on the cheaper grades of private dwellings already in existence; and if it had no such effect, the inference is obvious that the actual living demand must be smaller than formerly.

Well, the course of transactions in private dwellings during the past few years shows plainly that the demand for the cheaper grade of private dwelling is much smaller than it used to be. During that period it is probable that, owing to Pennsylvania and New York Central terminal improvements, and the constant encroachments of business, the stock of private residences in Manhattan has not merely relatively, but absolutely, decreased; yet in spite of this fact the cheap grade of private residence is not in any better demand than formerly, and has not appreciably increased in price. In certain parts of the city a slight leveling up is to be noticed; but on the West Side, the neighborhood in which the majority of the cheap dwellings are still situated the demand has ruled poor and prices have been no more than steady. The vital demand for dwellings has been concentrated on buildings that cost $40,000, or more, and which consequently represent a rent-paying capacity of more than $3,000 a year. This demand has ignored the West Side, and has forced up the price of the cheap, but well-situated dwellings on the East Side from between $20,000 to $25,000, to almost $50,000. Even at the present time, when the inquiry for dwellings in that vicinity is nowhere near as good as it was a year or two ago, prices of houses situated between Lexington and Madison avenues and south of 80th street, are still increasing. It is better in the sixties than in the seventies, and it very much prefers houses with a frontage of 20 feet to houses of smaller frontages, but the continued vitality of this demand is extraordinary, and shows plainly that the residences which are wanted are wanted chiefly by fastidious and well-to-do people. Such people are emancipated from the usual financial restrictions. They could afford the best apartments in the city, but they prefer a well-situated private dwelling because that is the way in which they want to live. On the other hand people with smaller incomes, who can choose between the medium-priced flat and the cheap private dwelling are coming more and more to prefer the flat, and this fact will have an extraordinary effect upon the future real estate and building history of Manhattan Borough.

More Fireproof Requirements.

The Board of Aldermen, by a vote of 50 to 2 (Robinson and Ware), this week passed the substitute ordinance amending Section 105 of the Building Code. (See Record and Guide of May 28th.) The measure was opposed by the Building Trade Employers' Association in its official capacity, and the counsel for that body, Messrs. Eidlitz & Hulse, have asked the Mayor for a hearing. A number of architects have also written to the Mayor, asking to be heard in the matter before he appends his signature.

The essential feature of the ordinance requires all buildings over six stories in height (75 feet) to be furnished with fireproof wood or metal-covered wood, if any wood work at all is used for trim. Heretofore the use of metal-covered or fireproofed material has not been required in wood work under twelve stories.

Efforts have been made to have the fireproof requirements extended in this manner for several years, but the objections have until now been strong enough to prevent. Perez M. Stewart, former Superintendent of Buildings, when asked his opinion concerning the "fireproofing" resolution passed by the Aldermen last Tuesday, said:

"I am not in favor of the measure, nor have I been in favor of such a measure," he added. "It is too drastic and involves too much unnecessary expense upon those engaged in building operations."

In a letter recently addressed to the Board of Aldermen, counsel for the Building Trades Employers' Association said that if the use of plain wood were prohibited in all these buildings, the increased expense of providing fireproof wood would be so great that many owners would hesitate to build; and this, with the fact that the building industry, as well as other industries, is stagnant at present, would cause much hardship, especially among the laboring classes.

On the other hand, the belief was strong among the members of the Board of Aldermen that the fireproofing requirements should be extended, and greater protection thrown around the public. The question is now up to the Mayor.

The Labor Situation.

BRICKLAYERS WILL NOT STRIKE.

The probability of a settlement of the matters which have been at issue between the Bricklayers and Masons' unions and the Mason Builders' Association, and especially some unnecessarily alarming reports in the daily press, are sufficient authorization for speaking here of a subject on which by general consent there has been nothing said. For four or five weeks there has been no treaty, no trade agreement, no rules that either employer or artisan is bound to respect. The term or period of the last agreement expired on the first of May, but because at that time negotiations for a new one had not been concluded, the old bill was continued in force by a formal resolution until the next ensuing meeting of the arbitrators, when its term was again prolonged. Five weeks ago the arbitration board adjourned without making a new or renewing the former agreement, but the apprehensions that this omission has at length given rise to are being dispelled by assurances that a settlement is now in sight.

The questions at issue were these: (1) That the men should receive 70 cents an hour. (2) That all foremen should be members of unions. (3) That fireproof blocks might hereafter be installed by the fireproofing companies as well as by the general contractor. Ever since the plain plasterers secured a daily wage exceeding the bricklayers', the latter have been dissatisfied. They think they ought to head the payroll, and for two years now in succession have asked for 70 cents an hour. Last year they were made to see that the condition of business did not warrant insistance on their part, but this year this higher wage rate was again one of their specifications for the annual bill. Regarding the foreman, the agreement of last year in Manhattan and the Bronx required only that these men be "practical bricklayers," and not necessarily members of unions, and in practice it has been found that but one or two per cent. of the foremen have no union cards. In Brooklyn the rule has been that every foreman shall be a union man, but as it is now proposed that Brooklyn shall hereafter co-operate with Manhattan and the Bronx, a demand has been made before the trade board of arbitration for the Brooklyn rule to be extended to the whole city.

The fireproofing proposition has been referred to at length heretofore in these columns. The Mason Builders' Association is firmly opposed to any change from present practice, under which they buy their fireproof blocks from the manufacturers and set them the same as common brick, claiming that as sixty-five per cent. of the mason work in a fireproof building might be done with terra cotta or tile, their business would be very much reduced. On the other hand, the fireproofing companies contend for the privilege of carrying on their business in New York city as fully and in the same manner as elsewhere, it being the custom in every other city to permit them to install fireproof blocks as well as to manufacture and sell them.

President Keasbey, of the National Fireproofing Company, says: "All that we ask is simply the right to subcontract to the Mason Builders for the furnishing and installation of our material in the same manner as the Mason Builders now and have always subcontracted for the furnishing and installation of other systems of fireproofing, and for the furnishing and erection of stonework, as well as for the furnishing and erection of steel work.

"We have no intention or desire to bid on general contracts. Our main object is to dispose of our manufactured product, and we are always ready to furnish it to any contractor who prefers to install it himself. But under severe competition and in many circumstances, we think it would be both to the advantage of the contractor and to ourselves to sublet this installation.

"Our company is probably a larger employer of union bricklayers than any other concern in the country. We have never had any labor trouble and always employ union men. In doing this work in New York, we will employ New York men and union men exclusively, and will not import any bricklayers or specialists from other cities. We feel sure that our contention is a just one and will work no hardship upon the mason contractors or upon the bricklayers. On the contrary, we feel that it will be an advantage to all concerned, and we cannot understand why the mason builders should object to this, when they allow concrete fireproofing concerns who employ no bricklayers at all to subcontract for this work."

As for the local unions of bricklayers, a resolution passed by the last international convention directs them to sanction the installation of the blocks by the manufacturers, but the members halt between obedience and self-interest. The majority are said to be opposed to any change of method, they fearing that ultimately they would not be so well employed; that the fireproofing might ultimately become a separate branch, as separate as the plastering of a building, and that the change might not work to their advantage. Strong influence, however, was brought to bear in favor of a change in the method of handling fireproof material, no small part of it of course being the decision of the international body. At one stage of the local negotiations the international executive committee was formally asked by the representatives of the local unions if a strike on the part of the New York men would be supported by the national body, and the answer was in the negative.

But the query was put to the national officers more with the desire of determining just where they and other leaders stood than to indicate a crisis in affairs in New York City. The patent fact was and is that the great majority of the men hope for nothing better than to be permitted to continue at work on the old terms, and it is believed that this view will be officially confirmed by a vote that is being taken this week in the local unions, and which will authorize the representatives to conclude an agreement with the employers on substantially the same basis as last year. More particularly the men will not insist on an increase of wages, or on all foremen being union men or on concessions to fireproofing companies; but it would not be surprising if it should be found that during the interval when there is no agreement on the subject, the terra cotta fireproofing companies have accepted independent contracts. It would then be for the bricklayers to decide whether they should work on those contracts or not. President Eidlitz of the Mason Builders' Association declined to discuss the matter for publication.

NEW LABOR BOARD.

A movement that has been developing for a couple of months seems to have achieved its purpose of reorganizing the former boards of delegates and representatives in the building trades into a new central body called the "Building Trades Alliance." From the headquarters at Pepper's Hall, at 67th street and Third avenue, it was announced this week that all other boards of delegates had been combined in this new one. The officers of the new board are: Philip Weinseimer, president, from the Journeymen Plumbers and Gasfitters' Association; James McGuone, vice-president, from the Journeymen Stone Cutters' Association; Paul Sperling, secretary-treasurer, from the Amalgamated Painters and Decorators, and Thomas McCracken, sergeant-at-arms, from the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

There are to be three representatives from each organization on the board, one of whom must be a business agent, and the organization will be in a position in about three weeks to announce matters of the utmost importance to the building trades of the city. The president of the newly formed Building Trades Alliance is emphatic in his assertion that a successful campaign will begin with the formation of the new body. When interrogated for the Record and Guide yesterday, Mr. Weinseimer was not inclined to say more than this at the present time.

"Does it mean peace or war?" he was asked.

"You can say this," replied Mr. Weinseimer, "the organization of the Building Trades Alliance is peaceably inclined, provided its members are treated fairly." He added in response to further inquiries:

"The Alliance is not affiliated as an organization with the Building Trades Employers' Association, but all the unions represented by it are so affiliated, with the exception of the Stone Cutters' Union, and are bound by the plan of arbitration. The Bricklayers and Masons' unions have not yet affiliated with our Alliance. The organization will be composed of three men from each union, one of whom must be a business agent or walking delegate. There may be more than one business agent from a union, but it is improbable that all the members of the board should ever be walking delegates. I am not at liberty to furnish a copy of our constitution and by-laws. The board will meet once a week at Pepper's Hall. It is entirely different from any board of mechanics that has preceded it."

Mr. Weinseimer would not say it would be a body in which the walking delegates would dominate and control, yet he intimated that some powers formerly possessed by such officers would be recognized by the Alliance. A business agent would have power to call men off their work for a grievance when not employed by a member of the Building Trades Employers' Association.

Asked if any new principle or method of dealing with labor questions had been incorporated into the Alliance, President Weinseimer said he did not wish to say anything about that now. All the unions in the alliance could be regarded as in favor of arbitration. None had very serious grievances. He could not say what developments, if any, could be expected.

"Mr. Weinseimer, you understand the importance of this movement to real estate and building interests. May the Record and Guide give them the assurance from you that the present peace will not be disturbed during the present year?"

"That real estate interests will have continued peace is rather difficult to say," answered Mr. Weinseimer.

While the president of the new alliance is non-committal on some essential matters, it is not believed that the new board is anything but peaceably disposed. The old Parks board of walking delegates having gone out, and the newer Board of Representatives having become inactive, an effort has been made to amalgamate all the elements of former boards into a more energetic body. It seems certain that the business agents will be more of a power in this board than they have been for a year past. President Weinseimer is a member of the Arbitration Board connected with the Building Trades Employers' Association, representing the Plumbers and Gasfitters, of whose city and state organizations he is president, and to whose interests he devotes most of his time. He is also interested in an investment institution as secretary, most of the members of which are union men.

A Warning Regarding Fireproofed Wood.

To Builders and Architects of New York City:

Gentlemen—We are informed that some person claiming to represent the Fireproofine Company of this city, is going about among architects and builders stating that where specifications demand that Electric Fireproofed Wood should be used, and no other material would answer its purpose, he would be able to furnish the Electric Fireproofed Wood.

Now, for the information of the public, we desire to state that in order to caution and prevent architects and builders from being duped into the purchase of any spurious or inferior material, we would state that there is no company in the United States that possesses any right to manufacture Electric Fireproofed Wood besides our own, excepting the Newport News Ship Building Co., of Newport News, Va., and the Union Iron Works, of San Francisco, Cal., both of these companies fireproofing wood under our process, exclusively for the United States government warships, which product is under Federal government inspection; but, there is no other concern in the United States that is licensed to manufacture wood under the Electric Fireproofing process.

There is, however, in existence in Canada a concern which has purchased from us our Canadian patents for the treatment of wood, but we could not consistently guarantee the fireproofness of any material furnished by any other company, unless the work was done under our own supervision. We remain,

Very respectfully yours,

Max Bachert, Vice-President.

Electric Fireproofing Co., 19th Street and East River.

A Hint from Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., June 25, 1904.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Dear Sir: I congratulate you that you are trying to wake up New York to the fact that it has the slipperiest and most dangerous pavements and sidewalks of any city in the Union. If you think Father Knickerbocker would submit to a Kindergarten example, we will take pleasure in showing him our streets here, the pavements of some of which are over thirty years old, among these being Euclid Ave., which has almost an ideal pavement, being built on a very hard sandstone native to New York State.

Yours truly,

M. F. BRAMLEY,

Member of Board of City Hall Commissioners.

The Rival of the Sun—The Canton Clothes Dryer.

The clothes dryer has come to stay. In the densely populated cities it is an absolute necessity, and even in smaller towns and country places it is beginning to find favor. Artificial drying has so many advantages over the out-door method that the only wonder is that the old-fashioned poles and clumsy clothes racks are used at all. The user of an improved form of clothes dryer is not in any way dependent upon the weather; all days are alike to the user of the Canton Clothes Dryer. Architects and owners have appreciated many of these points in connection with clothes dryers for some time, and they are surely on the lookout for improvements in the efficiency of drying apparatus. Canton Clothes Dryers are correct in principle, and are made right, of superior material. No pains has been spared to produce a superior article, and all annoyances, such as smoke, fumes, etc., have been skillfully overcome, and at the same time the greatest drying capacity has been secured at a minimum cost.

The "Rival of the Sun" is the title of a handsomely illustrated booklet which will be mailed free to any one sending for it to The Canton Clothes Dryer & Mfg. Co., 157 West 23d St., New York.

Types of Private Residences.

THE AMERICAN BASEMENT DWELLING DESCRIBED—WHEREIN IT DIFFERS FROM OTHERS.

What is the difference between an American basement house and an English basement house, and an old-fashioned high-stoop house?—asks a correspondent.

A high-stoop dwelling house is one where the basement floor usually is three or four feet below the sidewalk and the ceiling of the basement story is about five feet above the sidewalk. The first story, which is the parlor floor, is reached from the sidewalk by a front stoop having ten or eleven risers, the entrance being at one side of the house. A vestibule opens into a long hall, and in the latter is the main staircase. At the side of this hall is the parlor, usually a long, narrow room. Back of the parlor and running across the full width of the house is the dining room with an extension containing a butler's pantry, dumb waiter, and back stairs connecting with the kitchen below. Frequently the dining room is placed in an extension of a lesser height than the main house, the room back of the parlor then becoming a back parlor or a library. Another variation in planning the parlor floor is to provide a foyer hall in the centre of the house, thus separating the front parlor from the back parlor or dining room. The basement is entered from the sidewalk by steps in the front area leading to an entrance door under the stoop. The front room in the basement is sometimes used as a dining room, but more often as a servant's sitting room, and back of this are the servant's offices, consisting of kitchen, laundry, etc., with entrance to the rear yard.

An English basement dwelling house, as usually constructed in this city, has the greater portion of the lowest story or cellar below the sidewalk. The basement or ground story has its floor about three feet above the sidewalk, the entrance being at one side of the house and reached by a low front stoop with four or five risers. A vestibule opens into a hall containing the stairway to the story above. A reception room is at the side of the hall, a dining room runs across the rear and between the reception room and dining room is the pantry. On the floor above the basement, that is the first story above the ground story, the staircase hall is in the centre of and takes up the full width of the house, the front room being a parlor and the back room being also a parlor or a library. The cellar is entered from the sidewalk by a flight of steps in the front area and door under the stoop. The front portion of this lowest story contains the heating apparatus, coal bins, etc., and in the rear portion is the kitchen, laundry, etc., with entrance to the yard which is usually excavated to the cellar level.

An American basement dwelling house has its basement or ground floor a step or two above the sidewalk. The front main entrance is through a centrally placed vestibule opening directly into a reception room or foyer hall through which the staircase hall, placed midway in the depth of the house, is reached. Back of the staircase hall is the kitchen, and a laundry in an extension. From the kitchen a separate passageway or hall runs to the sidewalk. A change in this plan is frequently made by putting the laundry in the cellar, and using this room in the extension back of the kitchen on the ground floor as a servant's sitting room. Another change also is to make the entrance to the servant's quarters by steps through the front area and through a passageway taken off from part of the width of the cellar, and up a flight of stairs to the kitchen on the ground floor. By the latter arrangement the reception room or foyer hall on the ground story is left the full width of the house. The first story above the basement or ground story is the parlor floor, a foyer hall in the center, a front room the full width of the house being the parlor, and the rear room the dining-room with a butler's pantry in an extension. On the second floor the front room usually is the library. An American basement has one distinguishing outside mark from an English basement and a high-stoop house, when occupying a single lot, in that the main entrance is located at or near the centre of the width of the front, instead of being at one side. In the case of an alteration of a high-stoop house to an American basement, of which there are many examples, the main entrance is a little below the sidewalk level and at one side of the front; but the general outside appearance stamps it as an American basement house.

Each of the three above-named types of private residences, ranging in width from say eighteen to twenty-five feet, are variously modified in the planning of the floors, but the difference between them is quite noticeable, as the descriptions indicate.

M. Sieghardt & Co., dealers in second-hand building materials, with main office and yards at 4057 3d av, Bronx, make a specialty of wrecking buildings and dealing in office and store fixtures. The extent to which building material of this nature is incorporated in new structures may not generally be known, but it is a fact that every available detail from old structures may be and is used again, as may be seen by a visit to these yards. Gossip of the Week.

There is a slight increase this week over the sales reported for last week. As this is the first of the month, and the time when a great number of titles pass, and most people report their sales just before title passes, the increase can be laid to that fact and not to any increase in activity. One hundred and forty-one is the number reported, of these Manhattan is represented by an even hundred, sixty-six of which are tenements, fourteen dwellings, and twenty-four old building and lot transactions. The forty-one Bronx deals were divided as follows: twenty-five tenements, four dwellings, and twelve lots. For the same week last year there were sixty-six deals in Manhattan and eleven in The Bronx.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

21ST ST.—S. B. Goodale & Son have sold for Mrs. Coryell the 7-sty apartment, 21 East 21st st, on lot 28x98.9, to Robert Alexander, who gives in part payment the 4-sty dwelling, 243 West 24th st, on lot 20x88.

Henry H. Otten was the broker who effected the sale of the Adeline apartment house covering the block front on the south side of 160th st, extending from Amsterdam av to St. Nicholas av; the property has a frontage of 98.6 feet on 160th st, 49.11 on Amsterdam av and 50.10 feet on St. Nicholas av.

Cuozzo & Gagliano have leased for the Minsker Realty Co., to Joseph Pitetti and D. Beninati, the two 5-sty tenements with stores at 235-237 Av B, for a term of five years, at an aggregate rental of $11,500.

M. & L. Hess have leased for Alva S. Walker as trustee of the estate of Benj. F. Hooper, the 5-sty buildings with stores at 1740 to 1744 Amsterdam av and 501 West 146th st, for a long term of years, at an aggregate rental of $115,000.

Pocher & Co. have leased the 4-sty private house at 413 East 50th st, for Abraham Nussbaum to T. C. Demorest for term of years.

William Carr, Jr., is now connected with the firm of Richard M. Montgomery & Co. He has been for a number of years in the real estate business, and is well and favorably known.

Questions and Answers.

BETWEEN NEIGHBORS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A and B own houses adjoining each other. A's house is somewhat lower than B's, and there is a metal flashing running along the roof of A's house against the wall of B's to prevent the rain from penetrating. This flashing has corroded so that it no longer answers its purpose, and in case of rain the water enters into wall of B's house, making the interior damp and staining the decorations. B has asked A to repair his flashing, which he refuses to do. Has B any remedy in the matter? Can he compel A to make good the defective flashing and stop damage to his property. F. J. G.

Answer.—B should make his house watertight without the aid of A, and cannot compel A to assist him in so doing.

WHERE A STABLE MAY BE BUILT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Does the law prohibit the building of a stable on a street fronting a public park? J. R. C.

Answer.—No.

COPYRIGHT YOUR PLAN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Being a resident of Brooklyn until recently, I am aware that there is a great scarcity of flats there, and understand that builders cannot, according to the new law, build flat houses on a 25 ft. lot and make them pay. I have drawn up a plan whereby I think builders could build such houses on a 25 ft. lot. What I would like to ask you is, how I could submit this plan to others and yet protect myself. I have a new departure in it that I think will be of value to me, and make it capable of building a flat house on 25x100 ft. lot, according to the new law.

Answer.—Your plans can be copyrighted, but not patented.

WHO GETS THE COMMISSION?

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A is a broker, B is janitor looking for commissions, and C also is a broker. A lady goes to A for a floor, and he offers her one at $30 per month. She sees B, who offers the same floor for $28. In the meantime, the owner gives the floor to C to rent at $26. C knows of a lady who is looking for a floor, and sends her word to that effect. The lady goes back to the janitor, and tells him she can get the floor from C at $26. The janitor says she can get the floor also for $26, and goes to the owner and states her case. The owner goes to C and tells him to rent the floor for $26 to the party, who turns out to be same party who had been to A and B. C sends a messenger to the party informing them they could have the floor, but they refused to pay more than $25, but went to B and took the floor from them at $26. Who is entitled to the commission, A, B or C? R. & R.

Answer.—C.

OWNER IS LIABLE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A broker rents a private house for a client from B, a lawyer who represents himself as agent-owner, and lives out of city. B receives a month's rent from A, the broker, also gives him keys to the house. Is not B, the lawyer, responsible by law for commission?

Answer.—The owner is responsible for the broker's commission, and not the attorney or agent. See Buck vs. Amidon 4, Daly 126, Crane vs. Boudoine 55 N. Y., 256.

SEPARATE NOTES.

—It requires great courage in Berlin to oppose any scheme which is promoted by the government. The members of the Architects' Union have, however, displayed that quality in passing a resolution against the proposals for dealing with the royal theatre, or Konigliche Schauspielhaus. It is one of Schinkel's works, and the German architects consequently regard it with reverence. Now the Emperor has determined that a catastrophe like that of Chicago must not occur in his capital, and, as was to be expected, the royal theatre was one of the first to be set down for transformation. The works proposed will be extensive. But the members of the Architects' Union believe they would destroy the character of a prominent masterpiece of the great architect. The question remains to be considered whether it is not possible to enter upon other arrangements less revolutionary, and which would at the same time secure the safety of the public.

Building Operations.

$450,000 Improvement for Dey Street.

DEY ST.—Eidlitz & McKenzie, 1123 Broadway, have awarded to Chas. T. Wills, 156 5th av, the mason work, and to Watt & Sinclair, of 247 West 28th st, the carpenter contract, for a 15-sty brick and steel loft and office building, at 9 and 11 Dey st, for the New York Telephone Co., of 15 Dey st. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $450,000.

Taxpayers for the Bronx.

3D AV, Bronx.—Irving P. Lovejoy, 200 Broadway, informs the Record and Guide that the square block bounded by 3d and Park avs, 188th and 189th sts, Bronx, which he recently sold for John D. Crimmins, will not be improved with an elevator apartment house as reported elsewhere. He states, however, that taxpayers will be erected. The plot measures 200x300 in size. So far as can be learned no plans, or architect has been chosen.

A 57th Street Improvement.

57TH ST.—Architect George Freeman, 566 5th av, has awarded the Varick Contracting Co., of 74 Cortlandt st, the general contract for extensive alterations at 113 East 57th st. The structure being a 4-sty residence, will be improved with a new 2 and 4-sty rear extension 9x38 feet, steel-frame bay windows, steel columns and beams, stairs, partitions, vent shaft, tank, and wire glass skylights will be installed. The estimated cost is $25,000. Philip Van Volkenburgh, of 33 West 57th st, is the owner.

Park Place Improvements.

Two 6-sty store and loft buildings will be erected at 14 and 16 Park pl, by the Chrystie estate, and upon the adjoining plot, No. 18, the Roosevelt estate will build a similar structure. The buildings will, however, be connected with large arched openings, practically throwing the two structures into one. The premises were destroyed by fire last February. Louis Giller, of 416 Broadway, is now taking figures on the work, which will cost $90,000. The construction of the buildings will commence at once.

$20,000 Alterations for Old Florence House.

18TH ST.—The old Florence House, located at the northeast corner of Fourth av and 18th st, one of New York's old landmarks, is to be thoroughly renovated and repaired at a cost of $20,000. The building is an 8-sty structure, of red brick and stone, in the old French type. Plans, which have been prepared by David W. King, 246 Fourth av, call for changing the interior partitions, new brick walls, steel columns and girders, and rearranging the structure in general. Contracts for the work have been let to H. Hafker, 132 East 123d st, masonry, and to Christ Benjies, of 333 East 6th st, the carpentry.

Apartment House for Madison Avenue.

MADISON AV.—Plans are about completed in the office of David Stone, 127 Bible House, for a 6-sty high-class elevator apartment house 95x90.11 in size, to be situated at the northwest corner of Madison av and 97th st, for the Marmados Realty Co., of 135 Broadway. Mr. Stone states that he will be ready to receive estimates in four or five days. The designs show apartments for 22 families, one elevator, steam heat, electric light, marble and tile wainscoting, mosaic floors, hardwood trim, open plumbing, dumbwaiters, and an exterior of light brick and limestone. The estimated cost is about $180,000.

Future Improvement in Broad Street.

BROAD ST.—The Johnston estate will erect an office building at Nos. 38 and 40 Broad st and 34 and 36 New st, adjoining the present Johnston building on the southwest corner of Broad st and Exchange pl. The estate owns the property, now occupied by old brick buildings, and the proposed structure will be similar to the Johnston building but not an addition to it. James B. Baker, 156 5th av, architect for the Johnston building, will prepare plans for the new building. Mr. Baker's representative states that work will not begin immediately, but will be deferred till the ratio between income from rents and the initial cost of a building admits of a better paying proposition than at present.

Alterations to Weber & Fields.

BROADWAY.—Thomas W. Lamb, architect, 3 East 28th st, has awarded to James E. Mullen (on the premises) the general contract for extensive alterations to "Weber & Fields'" Music Hall at Broadway and 29th st. The building will be altered to comply with the present building laws. Four new exits will be made and new fire escapes put up. A new entrance will be built and new dressing rooms with fireproof floors and walls. The auditorium will be entirely rebuilt with wider aisles, new seats, bronze balcony rails, and new decorations. There will be a sprinkling apparatus and an entirely new electric lighting plant. No wood is to be used in the reconstruction. The work will cost about $30,000 and will be completed in time for the opening of the theatrical season.

The Tiffany and Gorham Buildings.

The Tiffany and Gorham buildings at 5th av and 37th st and 36th sts, respectively, are nearly enclosed and may now almost be seen in their entirety. Both are from the designs of Messrs. McKim, Mead & White, 160 5th av, and Chas. T. Wills, 156 5th av, is general contractor for each. Following is a partial list of the contractors for the Tiffany building: O'Rourke Engineering and Construction Co., caissons; B. A. & G. N. Williams, 4 East 42d st, cut stone; T. New Construction Co., 518-20 West 29th st, water proofing; Standard Plunger Elevator Co., 1 Broadway, elevators; Voigtmann & Co., 8-12 Jones st, metal frames and sash; Tiffany Studios, 333 4th av, bronze work; Gross & Horn, 249 Front st, damp proofing; and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., 120 Broadway, dynamos. For the Gorham building: American Bridge Co., 100 Broadway, structural iron; O'Rourke Engineering and Construction Co., caissons; Otis Elevator Co., 17 Battery pl, elevators; Hecla Iron Works, 118 N. 11th st, Brooklyn, ornamental iron work; Gorham Manufacturing Co., Broadway and 19th st, bronze work; T. New Construction Co., 518-20 West 29th st, water proofing; Voigtmann & Co., 8-12 Jones st, metal frames and sash; and the Cutler Manufacturing Co., Rochester, N. Y., mail chutes.

Two Million Dollar Apartment House for Central Park West.

CENTRAL PARK WEST.—Boehm & Coon, 31 Nassau st, will erect a 12-sty house-keeping apartment house, 204.4x100 ft., on Central Park West, from 73d to 74th sts. Plans by Clinton & Russell, 32 Nassau st, are finished and the owners will receive all bids and let the contracts separately. The building will, of course, be of fireproof construction and will have exterior walls of Indiana limestone and light cream-colored brick with copper roof and ornamental bronze doors and balconies. There will be four apartments on each floor, the number of rooms varying from eight to fourteen. Six elevators will be installed and each apartment will have telephone service. The building will contain electric plant, steam heating plant, ice plant, and all other modern improvements. Work is to begin at once, the site now being vacant. The cost is estimated at $2,000,000. A special feature is a carriage driveway in the rear running from street to street. In the center, the driveway leads around an ornamental fountain, flower garden, and seats. This is in line with the main entrance of the building and is separated only by glass and bronze partitions, the effect being an artistic one whether approached from the driveway or the front.

Dwellings.

There is much activity at the Schwab house and grounds where work is progressing rapidly. The house with its two wings, or extensions, is enclosed, and the exterior is practically finished, though the roof is still to be tiled. The interior is still in a rough stage; the fireproof floors and partitions being exposed, as no plastering has yet been done. On the grounds stone-cutting and setting is under way for the terraces, balustrades and enclosing fence. Tall stone posts are in place at the main entrance, and each is surmounted by a large stone urn of graceful shape.

MARION AV, Bronx.—Thomas W. Lamb, 3 East 28th st, will receive estimates next week for building a 5-sty flat, 50x104 ft., on the northeast corner of Marion av and Kingsbridge road for Mary B. Valkenberg. There will be stores on the ground floor and apartments for 19 families. The cost is estimated at $50,000.

Contracts Awarded.

31ST ST.—P. W. Gussow, 362 and 372 2d av, has received the general contract for extensive alterations to the 5-sty building, No. 200 East 31st st, from plans prepared by Richard Rohl, 128 Bible House. The interior will be improved throughout with new steel beams, brick piers, windows and partitions, at a cost of $7,000. Margaret J. Higgins, 2068 Madison av, is the owner.

43D ST.—Hugo Kafka & Sons, 34 West 26th st, have awarded contracts as follows for the addition to the Hotel Cadillac at Broadway and 43d st; To Charles A. Cowen & Co., 1123 Broadway, mason, carpenter and iron work; Gillis & Geoghegan, steam-heating apparatus; T. J. Scannel, plumbing; M. B. Foster Electric Co., electric wiring; Mackenzie, Quarrier & Ferguson, engines; General Electric Co, generators; Voss Ice Machine Works, refrigerating plant; and McAdam & Cortwright, electric work The addition will be 12-sty high and will adjoin the old building on the east. It is expected to be ready for occupancy by Feb. 1. Its cost is estimated at $260,000. In addition to this there will be alterations to the old structure amounting to $25,000. The property is owned by the Ogden Goelet estate of 9 West 17th st.

SCHOOL WORK.—The Board of Education has awarded the following contracts for work in public schools: To Richard E. Henningham, at $46,463, contract for addition to School No. 12, Richmond. Other bidders were Ph. Wolff & Son, $48,849; Conrad Hewitt, $46,975, and Patrick Sullivan, $58,870. To Frederick Pearce at $3,469 contract for installing electric equipment in No. 57, Manhattan.

CORTLANDT ST.—Chas. T. Wills, 156 5th av, has obtained another contract from the New York Telephone Co., of 15 Dey st, to erect an 8-sty brick and steel rear extension, 24.3x16.4 ft. to their building, No. 14 Cortlandt st. The work will cost $17,000. Eidlitz & McKenzie, of 1123 Broadway, architects.

McKim, Mead & White, 160 5th av, New York, have awarded the following contracts for the Princeton Cottage Club to be built in Princeton, N. J., to Wm. R. Matthews, of Princeton, the general contract; Baker, Smith & Co., 83 West Houston st, New York, heating and ventilating; Wm. H. Spelman, 112 West 38th st, New York, plumbing; and to J. H. Lehman, of Princeton, the electric work. The clubhouse will be a 2-sty basement and attic building of Harvard brick with Vermont marble trim.

24TH ST.—Edwin Outwater, 510 West 24th st, has received the general contract to build a 6-sty brick and concrete factory building, 50x91.4 and irregular, at Nos. 503 and 505 West 24th st, for the Mitchell, Vance Co., of 24th st and 10th av. Plans call for tar paper and gravel roof, steam heat, at a cost of $50,000. Eidlitz & McKenzie, of 1123 Broadway, are the architects.

The Thompson-Starrett Co., of 49 Wall st, has let the following contracts for building the 10-sty brick warehouse for Charles A. Schieren & Co., on the southwest corner of Ferry and Cliff sts: wrecking, Candee & Krekeler; excavating, J. J. Duffy; iron work, Cambria Steel Co.; terra cotta, Excelsior Terra Cotta Co. For the 12-sty hotel at 3, 5 and 7 East 27th st: excavating, James McCarthy; terra cotta, Excelsior Terra Cotta Co.; limestone, Edmund Shuttlworth; structural iron, American Bridge Co. No other contracts have been let on either job. This construction company has just completed the Standish Arms, in Brooklyn, and the Woodhull Building on 31st st, east of Broadway, and is now figuring on a series of warehouses for Baltimore, and a large office building in Boston from plans by Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge, 122 Ames Building, Boston, Mass.

Government Work.

By Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., until July 28 at 3 p. m., for the steam heating and ventilating apparatus, etc., complete in place, for the U. S. Court House and Post Office building at Salt Lake City, Utah; until August 1 at 3 p. m., for the construction (including heating apparatus, electric wiring and conduits) of the U. S. Post Office at Maysville, Ky.; until August 2 at 3 p. m., for the construction (except heating apparatus) of the U. S. Post Office and Court House at Pierre, South Dakota; until August 4 at 3 p. m., for the construction (including plumbing, heating apparatus, electric conduits and wiring) of the U. S. Post Office at Hutchinson, Kansas, and until August 8 at 3 p. m., for the construction (excepting heating apparatus) of the U. S. Post Office at Pekin, Illinois, in accordance with drawings and specifications, copies of which may be had of James Knox Taylor, supervising architect.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

The work of excavating for the addition to the Henry Heide candy factory has begun on the southwest corner of Hudson and Vandam sts. The building will be 9-sty and is estimated to cost $250,000. De Lemos & Cordes, 130 Fulton st, are the architects.

The Colis P. Huntington tract in the Bronx, which was sold at auction in 1899 to the Morganthau-Goldsmith syndicate, is now the scene of much building activity. Nine 40-foot 5-sty flats are in course of erection on one particular block alone, on 140th st, east of St. Ann's av.

Hugo Kafka, formerly of 99 Nassau st, has removed to 34 West 26th st, where the firm, now known as Hugo Kafka & Sons, have opened pleasant and well-equipped offices. Mr. Kafka's associates are Hugo Kafka, Jr., and Fred P. Kafka, structural engineer. Their telephone number is 3583 Madison.

Every one interested in wood finishing and wood-finishing materials should write for the new edition of the catalogue of The Bridgeport Wood Finishing Co. This will be sent free to any one writing the company for same at either New Milford, Ct.; 55 Fulton st, New York; 251 Dock st, Philadelphia, or 70 West Lake st, Chicago.

G. Tuoti, of the firm of G. Tuoti & Co., announces that he will sail for Europe on July 5. His family will accompany him, and they will be abroad for three or four months. William Mergardt, who was connected with Duff and Conger for eight years, will be in charge of the business, and will, no doubt, conduct the same to the entire satisfaction of the real estate fraternity.

Work has started on the 12-sty apartment house on the southwest corner of Central Park West and 89th st for Peter Banner, of 2 West 72d st. The excavation is finished and pier footings are being laid. The walls of the first and second stories will be of granite, and those above of pressed brick with limestone trim. Robert T. Lyons, of 31 Union sq West, is the architect.

S. Pearson & Son, of New York, has been incorporated, with a capital of $1,000,000, with E. W. Moir, of London, England; George W. Wickersham, Henry W. Taft, John F. Charlton and Arthur C. Patterson, of New York, as directors. The new company will carry ou the contract of the Pearson Co. of London, for building the Pennsylvania tunnel under the East River to Long Island City.

An instructive booklet on heating buildings by the vacuum system without the use of any new apparatus or special piping has been issued by the Norwall Mfg. Co., Western Union Bldg., Chicago. The book presents much information on vacuum heating in a non-technical way that is extremely interesting and is well worth the trouble of sending for the book.

Ten million dollars will soon be available for continuing work on the Manhattan Bridge, the Mayor having signed an ordinance to that effect. The plans being ready, bids will be advertised for once more. For three public baths in Brooklyn, $345,000 is authorized; for four in Manhattan, $633,000; for one in the Bronx, $75,000. Money is also made available for making maps of Queens and Richmond boroughs.

John Winterling, 528 West 40th st, is a specialist in baker's oven building, established in this line of business for many years, and as he always supervises his jobs personally, he guarantees that the work is done properly and satisfactorily. Some of the work he finished lately was done in the following buildings: 345 West 38th st, 937 8th av, 8 East 18th st, 615 9th av, 642 10th av, Columbus av and 104th st, 52d st and 9th av, and many others. Estimates cheerfully given; his telephone call is 239 38th st.

In last week's issue Mr. Chas. P. H. Gilbert, in an interview on Fifth avenue's skyline, was quoted as asking, "What do the Union and University clubs, the Tiffany, Gorham, and Knickerbocker trust companies' buildings mean architecturally to each other and to the avenue?" The question in no way implies a criticism on the part of Mr. Gilbert of any of these structures separately or individually, or suggests their inappropriateness to Fifth avenue. Mr. Gilbert, in a further interview, remarked: "These buildings are most attractive, and in my opinion are ornaments to Fifth avenue. If all future buildings are as carefully designed as the above-mentioned group, we will have no cause for complaint. The Tiffany building, especially in my opinion, promises to be the most beautiful structure on Fifth avenue, and I hope that the Knickerbocker Trust Co.'s building will always remain with us."

The Material Market.

BRICK.

The average tendency of prices for Hudson River brick for a fortnight has been toward easier quotations for buyers. If the general building business were as proportionately lessened in other boroughs as in the Bronx, manufacturers would not be faring so well. For them the season has thus far been unusually satisfactory, but the natural over-production should soon begin to make itself apparent.

Francis N. Howland, president of the Association of Dealers in Masons' Building Material, remarked this week: "The midsummer time this year finds us quite dull at our several yards, and from observations should judge the other Manhattan yards are the same. Last year's shortage of brick at the supply

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus: 2:482, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found at the foot of this list.

June 24, 25, 27, 28, 29 and 30.

The Private Branch Exchange System of supplying TELEPHONE SERVICE is particularly adapted to the requirements of LARGE HOTELS and APARTMENT HOUSES

By means of a Private Branch Exchange the general telephone service, local, suburban and long distance, is available in every room and apartment. A complete interior service is also supplied, adding largely to the efficiency, and decreasing the cost of the hotel service proper. No modern Hotel or Apartment House should lack a yards, with the quite large demand in the Bronx and Brooklyn, have caused the extremely good price for Hudson River brick during the last few months.

Material Market.

"We notice quite a shortage in the supply of second-hand brick since the Pennsylvania and the Central plots were torn down. Manhattan is not taking its usual quota of brick this summer, but the Bronx and Brooklyn are quite busy in certain sections and have helped the market materially.

"As new brick arrives in larger quantities, look for lower prices than are now prevailing, but as the cost of labor is quite a factor with the manufacturers, do not look for the low prices of last season.

"Other building material, such as lime and cements, are quite low in price, and will probably remain so for the rest of the season."

CEMENT.

An adjourned meeting of the National Association of Cement Manufacturers will be held at Atlantic City, July 12th. At the annual meeting here last October a general desire was manifested for a midsummer conference, and on many accounts it is deemed necessary for the welfare of the association. Proposals for a more perfect union, a stronger bond of fellowship, will be heard and acted upon. The membership has grown considerably this year, and has become so comprehensive and representative that a measure of unity within its walls is likely to control the entire trade of the country. The present hope therefore is to devise more effective laws and sterner means of enforcing the decisions of the conventions. Thus far the cohesion among the members has not been viewed from the outside as very strong.

Business in cement is not so good as a year ago in June, though 1903 was not so satisfactory as 1902. Manufacturers, however, aver that cement is not the only dispirited commodity, as they find dullness in most other lines, and everywhere ascribed to the superstitions of a presidential year. Portland cement has never, within a stretch of memory, been so low in its fundamental prices, and that it will strengthen materially ere the year's close, even with a revival of general business, is deemed improbable. The reaction from the wonderful times of 1902 is severe, and manufacturers may very well question themselves whether some of the consequences with which they are now afflicted were not brought on by erroneous policy at that period. Certain it is, many mills have sprung up since that might not now be competing for their share had prices been less alluring.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

DYCKERHOFF PORTLAND CEMENT

is made in Germany. When first introduced in the United States, some twenty-five years ago, its superior strength, correct chemical composition and absolute uniformity were quickly appreciated and placed it above all other Cements in the market. The Dyckerhoff brand maintains the original superiority;—its perfection has not been approached by any other Cement.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

The Judgments filed against corporations, etc., will be found at the end of the list.

Don't specify "as good as 'Taylor Old Style' tin." That gives the idea that there is a tin as good. There isn't.

N. & G. TAYLOR COMPANY
Established 1810
Philadelphia

"Rufus the Roofer" is a breezy booklet, in which the roof question is threshed out in a new vein. It will be sent to anyone on receipt of ten cents in stamps, and is worth more than that simply as entertaining reading.

Vol. LXXIV. JULY 9, 1904. No. 1895

THE mortgage records for the six months throw an interesting side light upon the course of the real estate market during that period. Some 8,328 mortgages on Manhattan property were recorded during the first six months of the year, against 6,675 for the corresponding period of 1903, an increase in number of 1,653, or about twenty per cent. On the other hand, there was a decrease in the aggregate amount of money loaned from over $159,000,000 in 1903 to over $151,000,000 in 1904. The average sum of money carried by each mortgage decreased from $24,000 to $18,000, which indicates the comparative absence of large transactions. It should be added, however, that the totals given above have been very much influenced by the filings for January and February, during which the condition of the money market was so extremely unfavorable, and that were these months omitted there would be much less discrepancy between the totals of the two years. During June, for instance, the comparison is all in favor of the current year. Some $7,000,000 more money was loaned during the June of 1904 than during the June of 1903, but this money was loaned on the whole at higher rates of interest. Over $15,000,000 more money has been put out at five per cent. during the first six months of 1904 than during the first six months of 1903, and more than $4,000,000 at rates of interest greater than five per cent. On the other hand, almost $25,000,000 less money has been loaned during the current year at rates of interest lower than five per cent. than during the same period last year, and some $8,000,000 less money has been loaned by banks, insurance and trust companies. It should be noted, however, that these institutions are constantly loaning comparatively larger sums of money on real estate. During the past three months, for instance, they have loaned some $7,000,000 more than they did during the corresponding three months of 1903.

THERE have been more than the usual number of rumors lately respecting the proposed consolidations of local traction companies. The stories run either that the Interborough Company has absorbed the Metropolitan Securities Co. or that the Metropolitan Securities Co. has absorbed the Interborough Co. and neither of them seems to have any foundation at the present time. Yet it is absolutely certain that in the long run some such consolidation will be made. The motives which ordinarily operate in favor of consolidating railroads that partly compete with each other and partly supplement each other are very much stronger in the case of city railways than in the longer steam lines, the consequence being that the transit service of every important city in the country is either already concentrated in the hands of one corporation, or else is in the way of being so concentrated. In any particular case it is only a question of cost. In the cases of the New York transit companies this is a difficult question, because the three systems which control service are themselves the result of much previous consolidation, and since this process has proved to be very expensive their income is burdened with heavy obligations. In the course of time the growth of the city will enable the Metropolitan Securities Company and the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company to carry their burdens and still make a substantial profit; but the controllers of these corporations will not sell out until they can capitalize this future profit. The day, however, will come when it will be cheaper to consolidate than to wait and fight; and on that day the New York transit service will be controlled by a corporation where gross earnings will be in the neighborhood of $50,000,000 a year, and which will have an enormous influence on the prosperity and growth of the city. There is no doubt that such a corporation would be in a better position to give the people of New York an efficient transit service than would three different companies; and probably its management would attempt to keep its patrons in good humor. The great danger would arise from the relations of such a corporation with the city government. While we do not believe that it would be rich enough to buy the kind of government it wanted, and while there is much better standard in such matters than there was twenty years ago, still a corporation employing so many men and dispensing so much money would exercise an enormous indirect influence and would excite opposition as bitter as any support which it could purchase. There can be no doubt that in order to meet the situation such a corporation would create, special powers should be granted to the city government. A commission of inspection and regulation would be necessary and the municipal officials should be enabled to build municipal competing lines if such competition should in the course of time become necessary.

The First Half of 1904.

THIS has been a curious half year in the history of New York real estate. There has been unprecedented activity in certain classes of property and in certain parts of the city, but this restricted activity has left the majority of brokers and operators, comparatively speaking, unemployed. The consequence is that in spite of the fact that the aggregate number of the transactions recorded is larger than ever before in the history of the city, it has undoubtedly been on the whole a dull and unprosperous season for people interested in real estate and building. Property owners have been confronted with the unusual situation of a good renting combined with a poor selling season, and builders with every inducement to erect apartment houses and tenements have been unable to do so, because of their inability to borrow the necessary money. Taking Manhattan and the Bronx together, there have been some 12,728 transfers recorded against only 10,635 for the corresponding period of 1903—an increase of fully twenty per cent. It should be added that half of this increase occurred in the Bronx and that the transactions in the Borough north of the Harlem were 50 per cent. more in number during the first six months of 1904 than they were during the first six months of 1903. This is the great fact developed by the course of the market recently—the fact that the Bronx is destined to become in the near future the locality in which the greatest activity will take place. In spite of the fact that the population of Brooklyn is four times as large as that of the Bronx, the larger Borough is spending less than half as much on new buildings as the smaller one, and we should not be surprised to find the Bronx second only to Manhattan within a few years in the estimated cost of its projected buildings.

So far as the figures for the present year are concerned the Bronx has made up for the deficiency in the Manhattan totals. Taking the two boroughs together, the buildings projected during the first six months of the present year called for an expenditure of $46,612,590 against $46,613,500 for the corresponding period of last year. This is a small increase, but it has occurred entirely in the Bronx. The new buildings in the course of erection in that Borough are estimated to cost almost twice as much as the new buildings projected during the first six months of 1903. This is an enormous jump and indicates a prospect of rapid development which was hardly to be anticipated and which is the more extraordinary considering the inaccessibility of the Borough.

In Manhattan the new building for which plans have been filed during the current year call for expenditure of more than $5,000,000 less than for the corresponding period of the year before. The figures are $37,322,715 for 1904 and $42,643,685 for 1903. Decreases have taken place in the amount of money invested in every important class of building except tenements. Take, for instance, the case of business buildings. During the first six months of 1902 plans were filed for 119 new structures of this class to be erected at an estimated cost of $18,637,500. During the corresponding period of last year the number of projected business buildings increased to 124; but their estimated cost diminished to $13,380,000, while the figures for the current year are 115 for the number and $11,429,000 for the amount. The decrease from the year before is not very large, particularly when it is considered that the figures for 1903 contained one building—the Wanamaker store—which was estimated to cost $3,000,000. But the decrease from the figures of 1902 is very large, indeed, and undoubtedly measures very well the slackening which has taken place during the meantime in the vigor of the business expansion. A much larger shrinkage has taken place in the amount of money invested in apartment hotels. During the first six months of 1903 plans were filed for 22 new hotels to be built, at an estimated cost of $5,468,000, and these figures were much smaller than those of the year before. However, the figures of the current year are still smaller. Plans have been filed so far in 1904 for only seven hotels to be built at an estimated cost of $2,195,000. As for the number of new private dwellings projected during the past six months, the figures establish, as we pointed out recently, a new low record for this class of buildings.

The tenement house filings, however, tell a very different story. They are larger than they were either in 1902 or 1903, and by the end of the year the increase will undoubtedly be relatively still larger. During the first six months of 1903 plans were filed at the building department for 319 new tenement houses to be built in Manhattan at an estimated cost of $17,582,500. During the same period of 1904 plans were filed for 385 tenements to be erected at an estimated cost of $19,962,000. The increase is not very considerable, but considering all the conditions it indicates the great vitality of the existing demand for new tenement house accommodation. Moreover, these new houses are being much better distributed than formerly over the whole of the city. Last year 183 out of 319 were situated south of 14th st. During the present year only 105 out of 385 are situated in that district. Of the remainder some 96 are to be found on the East Side north of 59th st, and 56 on the West Side. Harlem, also, does very well with 74 new tenements and apartment houses to its credit. The filings for the Washington Heights section are still comparatively insignificant, but they will be much larger during the coming year. Altogether these figures indicate a tendency to build new tenements all over Manhattan, and doubtless the totals at the end of the year for this class of construction will be among the largest in the history of the city.

IN the July number of McClure's magazine Mr. Ray Stannard Baker states some interesting facts as to the tendency of employers to organize all over the country. This tendency exists quite apart from the general tendency looking towards industrial consolidation. Employers have everywhere found themselves obliged to associate with their competitors in order to protect themselves against the unions, just as were the employers in the building trades of this city; and this widespread association has in some instances led to the adoption of the same methods which other employers enthusiastically condemn when practiced by workingmen. Thus both in Chicago and in Colorado the sympathetic strike has been succeeded by the sympathetic lockout, while in many parts of the country the "scab" employer has been persecuted in much the same spirit that the "scab" non-union laborer has been persecuted. We all know how high was the feeling in the New York building trades during the fight of last summer when the Fuller Company persisted in remaining outside the employers' association, and people who find it hard to sympathize with the dislike of the union for the non-union man may obtain some assistance in understanding this dislike by considering the case of the Fuller Company. Of course, violence should never be committed, but the union laborers have every right to create, if they can, among their fellows a strong sentiment that the strike-breaker or the "scab" workingman is faithless to the best interests of American wage-earners. The more organization on both sides the better, for organization will make for efficiency. If the two must fight, good organization will make for a hard and wholesome fight over some important difference of opinion. If the two can agree it will help to make the agreement permanent and beneficial. Organization on both sides is all right. What is all wrong is the use of such organization to stamp out all competition both on the part of labor or of capital. No arbitrary restrictions should be put upon the productive power either of human work or of machinery.

Bricklayers Will Be Paid More.

AGREEMENT SIGNED THURSDAY NIGHT TO CONTINUE UNTIL JANUARY 1, 1906.

A permanent treaty has been signed between the representatives of the Bricklayers and Masons' unions and the Mason Builders' Association which will run till the first of January, 1906. The document was signed on Thursday night of this week at a meeting of the trade arbitration board. For five or six weeks there had been no agreement between the employers and operatives, the old bill having expired, and negotiations had been broken off.

Last week the question was put to the members of the various unions, and the poll showed that the majority of the unions were in favor of making an agreement with the bosses on the old terms. Nine unions voted for accepting a wage of 65 cents an hour, and seven unions voted to insist on 70 cents an hour.

Negotiations were accordingly reopened, and the Bricklayers' representatives in the trade arbitration board went to Thursday night's meeting prepared to sign an agreement in accordance with the wishes of the majority. In the course of the meeting, however, the employers asked that the agreement be made effective until 1906, instead of until next May, as they did not wish to have the trouble all over again next spring. Answering this, the men said they should receive some concession for consenting to this, and they suggested an increase of pay.

After a debate, it was concluded to agree on 65 cents an hour until the first of next March, and from then until January 1, 1906, on 70 cents per hour. The fireproofing question was decided in favor of last year's conditions. Concerning foremen, it was agreed that these men need not be members of unions, only "practical bricklayers."

One good effect of the treaty will be to bring future negotiations of this character in midwinter when little brick work is going on, and when building work would not be hindered by a strike as seriously as in the spring time.

The Hotel St. Regis.

ITS SALIENT FEATURES, ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN AND INTERIOR DECORATIONS.

The Hotel St. Regis is peculiarly worthy of notice as an architectural and building achievement, since it establishes a new and higher standard for the construction and decoration of hotels in a city that in this department of building establishes the standard for the whole country. The site, as originally planned, did not contain more than 12,500 square feet, and although about 7,500 more have been added in an extension now being built on 55th st, the whole plot includes less than 20,000 square feet, against about 70,000 for the Waldorf-Astoria, almost 35,000 for the new Hotel Brunswick, and 44,000 for the 5th av. At the present time it is, with its eighteen stories, the highest hotel building open for business in New York City, but its height will be equalled or exceeded by the Hotel Brunswick, by the new Imperial and the Belmont.

The amount of wood used in the finish is comparatively small, other materials, such as marble, bronze and tile being very generally employed. The corridors and main stairs on every floor are lined with marble from the floor to the ceiling. The door trims in all the corridors, halls and bath-rooms are of the same material. The floors, when exposed to view, are either of marble or of tile, the only exception being several special suites of apartments on the second and third floors. The bedroom floors, where covered by carpets, are of cement. The bath-rooms, elevator shafts, service stairways, service pantries and the like are wainscoted with white tile, while the elevator doors, stair balustrades and grilles are of bronze.

On the ground floor the whole Fifth avenue frontage and a part of the frontage on the street is given up to the general dining-room and restaurant. The dining-room connects directly with the palm-room (so-called), which occupies the middle part of the southern portion of the hotel, and which is lighted from above. The palm-room again leads directly to the café, which occupies the southeast corner of the ground floor, while on the northeast corner is a comparatively small ladies' waiting or reception room. These four rooms, together with the entrance hall and the office, occupy the whole of the ground floor. On the second floor, the Fifth avenue frontage is given up to the banqueting hall and ball-room, while connecting with it there is a suite of apartments running along almost the entire street frontage, which will be used for reception rooms, a library and other similar purposes. At the southeast corner of the same floor there is a private dining-room suite, consisting of three rooms.

The bed-rooms are finished, so far as possible, just as substantially as the other apartments. The floors are of cement. The mantelpieces in the more important rooms of marble, and the woodwork almost exclusively of hard-woods. One thing which the lessee, Mr. Haan, wished particularly to avoid was the expense inseparable from the maintenance of a great deal of paint in the rooms, with the consequence that the doors, baseboards and the like in many rooms are made of white mahogany. At least one corner room on each floor has been painted a dull greyish white, but the amount of paint employed is probably smaller than any building of its size in the world.

The floor of the general office is of Irish marble, laid in an elaborate pattern; but it will, of course, be covered with rugs. There is a dado of light brown shaded marble, which stops about three feet from the floor, and above the walls are finished in Caen stone, which, because of its warm and pleasant surface, is one of the few stones, except marble, which can be used for interior finish.

The dining-room is quite the most sumptuous apartment in the building, but the splendor of the effect is obtained more by the use of rich and striking materials than by mere superfluity of detail. The walls are lined with the same grained marble as the hall, but they are broken so much with windows on the one side and doors on the other that the uprights are treated as pilasters and supports. The south wall carries a large mirror. The ceiling is domed, wrought into an elaborate pattern and gilded. As for the palm-room, the walls are finished with low dado of Istrian marble, with mirrors above on one side and Caen stone on the other. The room derives its character, however, chiefly from the decorations, painted by Mr. Robert Van Vorst Sewell, and distributed around the room in the tympana of the arches. An extended and competent description of this notable hotel, with over fifty illustrations, will be found in the Architectural Record for June.

Ronald Taylor's New Building.

SIMPLIFY, SIMPLIFY, SIMPLIFY IS THE RULE OF THE DAY.

When a business is constantly growing, concentration becomes a necessity. The latest example to prove this rule is that of Mr. Ronald Taylor, whose new warehouse is shown on this page. At 520 East 20th street, this city, Mr. Taylor will combine under one roof all the departments of his business and bring them under his own immediate supervision. He moved his office on July 1st from 156 Fifth Avenue, is closing his laboratory in Brooklyn, is withdrawing from his factory at Cold Spring and giving up his storage yard in this city. By this concentration Mr. Taylor expects to secure greater efficiency in every department.

He has been in the business of making concrete floors longer than any of his contemporaries, being constantly engaged making fireproof flooring for twenty-five years, having entered into this business during the lifetime of his father.

Mr. Matthew Taylor was its founder nearly forty years ago. The elder Mr. Taylor for many years was a member of the New York Stock Exchange, a banker, and a member of the firm of Stoker, Taylor & Co. Soon after the Civil War he became interested in asphalt and was one of the early pioneers in developing the asphalt business in this country. He was the FIRST to import the well-known Trinidad Lake pitch which is now in use in all cities in this country. Among his earlier contracts was the paving of Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington from the Capitol to the Treasury and the paving of nearly all the Public Squares in the City of New York.

Mr. Ronald Taylor has been interested either actively or in consultation in nearly all the large and important structures which have been erected in New York in the last quarter of a century.

Among the buildings which he has had the contract for flooring are the following: Among hotels—The Waldorf-Astoria, Sherry's, Delmonico, the Manhattan, the Holland, the New Netherlands and the New Hotel Astor. Among office buildings—The GRANOLITHIC AND TAYLORITE WORK.

Stock Exchange, the Corn Exchange Bank, Kuhn-Loeb Building, the Commercial Cable Building, the Postal Telegraph Building, the Morton Building, the American Exchange National Bank Building, the Vincent Building and the Dun Building.

When the contract was awarded to him for the Postal Telegraph Building, Mr. Taylor traveled extensively through Italy, Austria and Germany to study the methods employed in countries where cement flooring, etc., had long been in use. He inspected the completed work, the factories where the different compositions were made and processes employed.

Cement floors as placed to-day are laid quickly and are preferred on sanitary and hygienic grounds, are absolutely fireproof, and are thus instrumental in lowering the general insurance on the building.

The general work of Mr. Taylor has grown so much that concentration became a necessity. The bringing of all the departments under one roof will add to the efficiency and promptness of handling all future contracts.

During the last five years a new branch of his business has been successfully marketed, namely: The laying of "Taylorite" Sanitary Floors and Bases. Among a few of the contracts he has executed in this line, are the floors of Naval Branch Y. M. C. A., Brooklyn, donated by Miss Helen Gould; St. Bartholomew's Clinic Building, Babies' Hospital and the New Day Nursery in Paterson, presented by the widow of the late Vice-President Hobart. In the near future Mr. Taylor will be engaged laying all the floors of the new building for the Woman's Hospital, for which work he has been awarded the contract.

A Day With Commissioner Crain.

THE TENEMENT HOUSE DEPARTMENT'S WORK AS SEEN AT HIS OFFICE—AN INSPECTION OF TENEMENTS.

Some 2,400,000 of the population of Greater New York live in buildings known to the law as "tenement houses," and which, as such, come under the supervision of the Tenement House Department. These structures are owned by approximately 65,000 persons. Among this number are the representatives of many of the wealthiest estates and several of the largest corporations. Not a few of the New York tenements are owned by non-residents.

The public with which the Tenement House Department comes in contact is composed of tenement house dwellers, tenement house owners, architects, builders, and those engaged in settlement-house and philanthropic work. A daily volume of complaints pour into the Department through the mails—frequently in almost illegible form—bringing to the notice of the Department the various conditions and degrees of discomfort and disrepair and of lack of sanitation and safety in hundreds of these tenements throughout the length and breadth of the city. The initial work of the Department, in so far as it acts responsively to these complaints, consists in their investigation through the medium of its inspectors, promulgation of appropriate orders to make them comply with the requirements of the Tenement House Law, and reinspections incident to the ascertainment of whether such orders have or have not been complied with.

"How does the Department deal with those who call for the purpose of making complaints orally?" was asked of Commissioner T. C. T. Crain, this week.

"Well, if you will wait a few minutes, I will give you an opportunity to see what I call the 'process of initial investigation,'" replied Mr. Crain, and with this he touched his bell, which was the signal that he was ready for the admission of the public, and I watched with interest the stream of people who followed each other in rapid succession into the Commissioner's presence.

The first was evidently a hardworking German woman from the tenements. You could see that she was laboring under no small degree of suppressed excitement, and that she at least felt that she had not a few grievances of which the Commissioner should be made aware. She began her story in English, but finding it difficult to give vent to her feelings in that language, upon the suggestion of the Commissioner she proceeded to tell her story in German. From time to time the Commissioner made notes, and, judging from her expression as she left the room, she seemed assured that something was going to be done.

She was quickly followed by an Irish woman. A few well directed questions by the Commissioner abbreviated what had promised to be a somewhat prolonged explanation of the complaint, and sent No. 2 away satisfied that there was a department in which she could get at the very head, and that her grievances would have due consideration.

Owners called seeking modifications of orders made by the Department, or asking for extensions of time. Architects came with their plans, and with these the Commissioner often discussed in detail the various requirements of the law applicable to the matters in dispute. If the numbers calling at the Department are to be taken as indicative of its activity, certainly the Tenement House Department is a very busy department. As the last of his callers left, the Commissioner swung around in his chair and said, "You have now seen some phases of the public's contact with this Department and this Department's contact with the public."

Mr. Crain then took his hat, his official badge, and one of the inspector's electric torches used in the Department in the inspection of tenements, and said to me, "I must now ask you to excuse me as I am about to make one of my periodic tenement house inspections." The Commissioner hesitated a moment before granting a request for permission to accompany him—as he afterwards explained to me—on the ground that he did not consider that it was strictly proper to take a person not connected with the Department with him on an official inspection. He then said, "You may go with me, and if any objection is raised at any house that we visit on the ground that you are not an official of the Department, you cannot go in, as this Department is as particular in protecting the dweller of the tenements from any invasion of his privacy by an unauthorized person as it would be were the place to be visited the home of the richest and most exclusive.

We went first to the Inspection Bureau of the Department where we were joined by Chief Inspector Herman J. Levy and by Supervising Inspector Corcoran. As these two walked ahead of us, the Commissioner turned to me and said, "I cannot begin to tell you how much Mr. Levy has done to systematize the work of the Inspection Bureau, to encourage and promote efficient work. By his example of painstaking and thorough action, he has created a healthful spirit on the part of inspectors. The Supervising Inspector whom you see in front of you, Mr. Corcoran, has been in the Department almost from the time of its organization, and is one of the best informed men in the Inspection Bureau. Much of the most important work of supervision is confided to him."

After we started, being somewhat surprised that the Commissioner personally inspected tenements, he said: "I have made it a practice to personally periodically inspect some of the tenement houses coming under the observation of the Department. It keeps me in touch with tenement house conditions and enables me to guage the progress made by the Department in the enforcement of the law. I find that there is nothing like seeing things yourself. It not infrequently happens that as the result of personal inspections I am enabled to suggest the placing of some additional order or the modification of one already made. Then I like to go where my inspectors go, as I wish the inspectors of the Department to feel that I would not willingly send them to any place or call upon them to do any work that I was not willing to do myself."

The first place that we reached was a typical tenement house on the West Side. It was an unsavory and repellant building in a condition of glaring disrepair, swarming with people of whom the majority were women and children. We went through a dark passageway or alley leading through the front building to a small yard intervening between that and the rear tenement. Some colored men were playing craps in the yard, while a small dog tried to fasten his teeth in the Supervising Inspector's trousers. No inconsiderable part of the yard was occupied by that form of abominations known to those interested in tenement house conditions as "school-sink water closets." From these little wooden buildings there came a stench that was well nigh overpowering.

Leading down from the yard at the rear of the front tenement was a flight of broken stone steps to the cellar. The Commissioner went at once to these steps, lighted his electric torch and proceeded to go down and explore the cellar. The odors coming from this quarter made me pause to consider whether my duty to the paper or the public required that I should follow him. From the cellar we went to the next floor and so on up through the house, coming out upon the roof, while the Commissioner jotted down in his memorandum book points in which the law was being violated, putting down opposite each the section of the law involved in order that when the owner of the building was communicated with the various provisions of the law might be brought properly to his attention.

The next tenement house visited was one somewhat farther up on the West Side and formed one of a row of three-story wooden buildings, doubtless erected many years ago and which had been suffered to fall into a state of dilapidation. Some of these houses were not occupied at all; in others there were only two families; and, as the Commissioner explained, it was doubtful whether their condition—in view of this fact and of their arrangement was cognizable by the Department. We went into several, however, that were occupied by three families or more. They were invariably found to be without janitors and the conditions in them, both from the standpoints of cleanliness and general sanitation, were indescribably bad. A man who was standing outside the door of one of them, and who, judging from his appearance, would not be presumed to be over particular as to the character of his housing, said to the Commissioner as we were leaving: "It won't be necessary to put us out, boss! We can't stand the place any longer and we're going to move."

As we were leaving, the Commissioner pointed out on the opposite side of the street a buildng which with its neat brick front, wide windows, broad and substantial fire escapes, and general appearance of solidity and comfort, presented a strong contrast to the rookeries we had left and said: "That is a new law tenement. There are no dark rooms in that building. There is no room in that buildng that is inadequate in size from the standpoint of health. The halls are wide and light; the means of egress is sufficient in the event of fire; the fire escapes are strong and broad and unencumbered. The plans for that building were submitted to and approved by the Tenement House Department. It is always full. The agent of the building has a waiting list of those who want to move into it. It presents in concrete form evidence of the wisdom of those who were instrumental in securing the passage of the present Tenement House Legislation, and of the fact that there is a substantial demand for such housing."

We went from tenement house to tenement house, in each of which the Commissioner made a minute personal inspection, going from cellar to roof. Watching him as he directed his attention specifically and systematically to certain definite parts of the building, I was led to ask his opinion of the work of inspection as an occupation. He said: "An inspector of the Tenement House Department must be an educated person, although not necessarily a highly educated person. He or she must be painstaking, systematic, exact, and practical. The art of inspection is not teachable in the schools. It is acquired as the result of practice. Some have much more natural aptitude for it than others. With some it is and never will be anything else than routine work. They go along the fixed lines laid down in the course of study which they take preparatory to the passage of the civil service examinations, and they do their work with very little, if any, appreciation of its real possibilities. Others, on the other hand, throw into the work a large measure not merely of enthusiasm but of individuality of action. To such each tenement house visited is an independent and absorbing problem to be considered, its requirements analyzed, and the possibilities of its betterment in all its parts carefully weighed in the light of the numerous and ample provisions of the existing law. The visits of such inspectors are benefactions to owners and tenants alike. Not infrequently, as the result of action taken by the Department consequent upon such inspections, owners come to me and say: 'We feel that our property will be benefited by the changes which we have made at the suggestion of your Department.' At three o'clock Mr. Crain returned to the department to meet the heads of the various bureaus and take up with them matters of departmental management. F. H. DOW.

Gossip of the Week.

A new record for the year in the private sales market was made this week. For the first time the number of sales reported for Manhattan has fallen below that of the corresponding week last year, there being only fifty-two for the week as against fifty-six for the same week last year. Of the fifty-two transactions reported this week thirty-two were flats and tenements, ten were cheap dwellings, seven lots and old buildings and three were business properties. The Bronx makes a better showing as compared with the same week last year, there being twenty sales reported for the week as against seven for the same week last year, twelve of the twenty deals were in flats.

E. V. Pescia & Co. have leased for F. Wm. Hill the two 6-sty tenements 335-337 East 95th st for a term of five years at the aggregate rental of $23,000; for Bachman & Boyer the 5-sty tenement 319 East 39th st for a term of five years at the aggregate rental of $7,800.

L. Tanenbaum, Strauss & Co. have leased for the estate of John Downey the property 398 5th av, which is directly opposite and adjoining the new buildings of Tiffany and Gorham. The lease is made to A. Simonson, of 933 Broadway, and covers a term (including renewal) of 42 years, involving a gross rental of over $800,000. A white marble modern building is to be erected upon the plot, in size 27.7x125.

W. E. & F. B. Taylor have leased for the trustees of Columbia College the property 18 East 16th st, size 38x182. The tenants are Simon, Ragovin & Co., who will make extensive alterations and occupy the premises for their own business. The lease is for a term of twenty-one years at an aggregate rental of about $140,000. The above property was acquired by Columbia College from the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen in September, 1899, and was formerly occupied by that society.

Questions and Answers.

HE WHO PAYS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A, in purchasing real estate, agree to give to the vendor a purchase money mortgage in part payment. Who is to bear the cost of preparing such bond and mortgage?

Answer.—The purchaser.

A FENCE QUESTION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A has property in 121st st, which is 100.10 feet deep by 20 feet in width; B has property in 120th st, of the same dimensions, B is building now and he wants to put a wall on the 10 inches of A's property where A has a fence there. Has B any right to build on A's ground without permission?

Answer.—No.

TO HIM WHO GAVE IT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

"A" sells to "B" a piece of property in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn. At the time the title was passed "A" had paid two installments for a Flatbush avenue improvement. The city reassessed the district and "B" paid the first installment under the new arrangement. The city will return amount paid under old assessment. To whom does it belong, "A" or "B?" AGENT.

Answer.—Each assessment stands on its own footing, and if repaid for any reason, belongs to the party who paid it.

NOT PERMISSIBLE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Is it possible to lis pendens real estate in this city for a broker's commission? The case is, a broker effects a sale for a non-resident owner, title is rejected for several defects, and the seller returns deposit to buyer, and refuses to pay broker's commission, though broker has authorization, and both seller and his attorney admit that the broker has earned his commission, but tell him to go ahead and sue him, he being 1,000 miles away from New York. He is liable to transfer the property to a third party at any time, unless a lis pendens is secured.

Answer.—No notice of lis pendens is permissible in such an action.

Building Operations.

Will Build a Factory at Huntington, L. I.

An addition to the manufacturing industries of Long Island will be a projected factory and engine works for the Electro-Magnetic Railway Construction and Supply Co., whose New York offices are at 11th av and 26th st. The buildings are to be erected at Huntington Manor, L. I., and it is also the intention of the corporation to erect cottages in which to house its employees. At the office of the company it was said that construction plans had not been definitely decided on, or any architect selected. Dimensions could not be given. A meeting of the board of directors will be held next week.

A William Street Contract.

WILLIAM ST.—Milliken Bros., 11 Broadway, have the general contract to build the 11-sty store and loft building on the northeast corner of William and Frankfort sts for J. W. & H. V. D. Black, of 95 William st. Buchman & Fox, 11 East 59th st, the architects, estimate the cost at $150,000. See Record and Guide for June 11th.

A New Street Opportunity.

NEW ST.—Howells & Stokes, 100 William st, inform the Record and Guide that estimates will be received in about two weeks on the general contract for the 16-sty annex office building, to be erected on the northeast corner of New st and Exchange pl, for the Commercial Cable Co. The cost is estimated at $500,000, on which no contracts have been let. (See Record and Guide of May 7.)

To Rebuild Fort Hamilton.

Plans have been filed with the War Department for the reconstruction of Fort Hamilton, in New York Harbor. Col. George C. Greenough, of the Artillery Corps, has prepared drawings, etc. It is said by military men that these extensive improvements will give New York one of the best fortifications of any port in the United States. Modern buildings will replace present ones.

Alteration on 6th Avenue.

6TH AV.—James Riely Gordon, Flatiron Building, Broadway and 23d st, is working on plans for the improvement to the 5-sty building No. 699 6th av. The structure will be renovated and improved throughout, for bachelor apartments. A brick court, two new elevators, new fire-escapes and new show windows and partitions are the principal new features. Emma E. Malcolm, of 101 West 40th st, is the owner. No contracts have been issued for the work.

George A. Fuller Company Will Build Hippodrome.

6TH AV.—Plans are now nearing completion in the office of Jay H. Morgan, Fuller Building, Broadway and 23d st, for the new Hippodrome which Thompson & Dundy, of Coney Island, will erect on the east side of 6th av, covering the block from 43d to 44th sts. The structure will be fireproof, three stories and balcony, in height, and measure 200.7½x239.10½ feet in size. The roof will be of terra-cotta, concrete and tile, with tile floors. The cost is placed at $400,000. The George A. Fuller Co. have the general contract.

Large Factories for Jersey Side.

Plans for a large new plant are in course of preparation by James Pyle & Sons, Greenwich and Vestry sts, New York. It is to be located at Edgewater, N. J., near the new plant of the American Glucose Co., and is to be devoted to the manufacture of pearline. A large tract of land has been purchased, and the intention is to build an immense establishment. Considerable attention seems to be directed by manufacturers to the Jersey side of the river as a site for new works. B. T. Babbitt, the soap manufacturer of 64-84 Washington st, New York, contemplates the construction of immense new works at North Bergen, near Hackensack, N. J. A very large tract of land has been purchased at this point and plans are rapidly being completed for a great new factory system. It is intended at present to erect some 13 large buildings, all of which will be devoted to the manufacture of soap. Machinery of many types will be installed in large qualities. The Pyle land lies under water and the work of piling and filling in will begin at once. No details have been determined or architects or engineer selected, though a Boston firm have prepared some plans for buildings which will be of mill construction, and a local engineer has been consulted. Mr. Pyle, who has entire charge of the work and is now in Europe, will return about the middle of September.

Mercantile.

5TH AV.—Buchman & Fox, 11 East 59th st, will make plans for a 6-sty marble front loft building to be erected on a plot 27.7x125 at 398 5th av, for A. Simonson, dealer in hair goods, of 933 Broadway. Work will begin May 1, 1905, when present leases expire. Vaults will extend to the curb line. There will be a 25-foot skylight rear extension on the first floor. The upper floors will have a depth of about 90 feet.

The interior trim will be of hard wood and the roof of slate. There will be 13 bedrooms and 6 bathrooms. The style is that of the English Georgian period with open terraces. There will be combination gas and electric light fixtures and combination hot air and steam heating apparatus. The architects will also make plans for a stable and lay out the grounds, consisting of 22 acres in landscape gardens.

72D ST.—William E. Diller, builder, of 571 5th av., will build two 5-sty American basement dwellings, on a plot 50x102.2, on the north side of 72d st, 100 feet east of Columbus av. The fronts will be of Indiana limestone and brick, and the dwellings will have [illegible] a passenger elevator and all modern improvements. Within about ten days the work of removing rock from the site will begin. No architect has been selected. Mr. Diller will let all contracts.

Alterations.

M. & M. Bernstein's plans for improvements at the City Hall include besides new sanitary arrangements, a new fireproof tunnel to be built under the main corridors in the basement, of steel, brick, and concrete, and in this tunnel a large new drain will be laid. The rear area wall of the hall is to be rebuilt in brick. The private offices of the Mayor, adjoining the main reception room, are to be remodelled and larger quarters will be assigned to the Mayor's secretary. The remodelled offices are to be finished with parquet floors. The offices of the Mayor's clerks, adjoining the Board of Estimate chamber, are also to be remodelled and finished with ornamental partitions of oak and glass, and will have parquet floors. The cost will be $60,000.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

The picnic and games of the Journeymen Stone Cutters' Association will take place at the Manhattan Casino, 155th st and 8th av, Saturday, Sept. 3.

R. J. Anslow and John McKeon have been elected business agents of the Journeymen Stone Cutters' Association. Mr. Anslow has been prominent in the movement for years.

Excavating has begun for the clubhouse for the Musical Mutual Protective Union, to be erected at Nos. 210-214 East 86th st. The building will be six stories, of brick and stone, 75x102 in size, and is estimated to cost $200,000. Levitan & Fisher, 20 West 31st st, are the architects.

The Standard Temperature Regulating Co., Newark, N. J., has been incorporated, capital stock $100,000, for the purpose of manufacturing and dealing in thermostats and devices for controlling the temperature of heating apparatus. Incorporators: James C Hutchinson, James T. Reid, John L. Reid.

The Plumbers and Gasfitters' Association, of which Philip Weinseimer is president, has a membership of 2,000, and has jurisdiction in Manhattan, the Bronx, Kings, Queens and Richmond boroughs and Nassau County. The business agents of the organization are James Crotty, Matthew Murray, John Cartmel and John Alwater. Delegates Crotty and Murray have charge of affairs in the Bronx.

A suite of offices in a large business building on Union sq have the walls tinted a light olive green to within eighteen inches below the ceiling, where a dark green oak picture molding separates the walls from the deep cream color that has been used for the ceiling and frieze. The offices are divided by partitions of green oak, the upper portion being filled in with large lights of fancy white glass—these partitions running only about three-fourths of the height of the ceiling. The floors are stained dark and varnished, and the rooms are furnished with heavy antique oak office furniture, the chairs and sofas being upholstered with dark green leather.

On the north side of 76th st, between Av A and the East River, the work of excavating is under way for a Free Public Bath. The building will be 50x102 feet in size and of fireproof construction. There will be 104 shower baths and 9 tubs. The exterior will be of brick and limestone and the roof of Spanish tiles. Stoughton & Stoughton, of 95 5th av, are the architects, and the John J, Parker Co. the general contractors.

A company has been incorporated to manufacture and sell the "Salasee" Plastering Fibre, which has been favorably introduced here by Messrs. Chas. R. Weeks & Bro. Chas. R. Weeks is the secretary of the company, and will give his special attention to the further development of "Salasee," the merits of which have been proved in prominent buildings, both here and in other parts of the country. Its superiority as a binding material in lime mortar, patent plaster, and all kinds of plaster and cement work is conceded by all who have used it, and its use is constantly growing. It has been submitted to the most severe tests, by both owners, and architects, and found to be impervious to the action of lime, and makes plastering more durable. Many architects specify it in their work regularly, and those who are not already acquainted with its advantages would do well to send for samples and testimonials, to the offices of the company, 150 West 35th st, by mail, or 'phone, No. 5638—38th st.

A Paint that Lasts.

The recent Baltimore fire left the Union Trust Company building in that city gutted from bottom to top. This is the first instance where opportunity has been afforded, after such a lapse of time—seven years—of making an extensive examination of the condition of structural steel as used in modern buildings. Of particular interest is the condition of the paint upon the steel. Its appearance would indicate it to have been recently applied, instead of during the year of construction—1897-8. It is glossy, free from cracks, and adheres firmly to the metal. There is no evidence whatever of corrosion. Many of the wall beams and girders are exposed, as a result of the intense head which caused the terra-cotta and brick covering to fall, more of it being stripped off later to insure safety. Examination shows the steel to be in a perfect state of preservation.

From the condition of the paint on this building, the manufacturers feel that the many claims made for it are substantiated. It would seem safer to specify a paint, the durability of which is proven, than one for which claims are made, without equally good evidence of service being submitted. From the perfect condition of the paint it may be safely said that it will protect the steel indefinitely, and it is hoped that the facts as shown may be carefully weighed with facts, rather than with arguments and assertions based on laboratory tests.

The Detroit Graphite Mfg. Co., with offices at 141 Broadway, New York, furnished the paint used in this building, and their product has been specified on many prominent steel-framed buildings.

Material Market.

BRICK.

Only one cargo of Hudson River brick left in the market on the Fourth of July, is an indication of a remarkable equilibrium between production and requirement. The oldest manufacturers have rarely seen a shorter supply at this time, as the July stock is usually abundant. The average daily outgo for a considerable period has been fourteen boat loads. Prices do not change materially, but are a little firmer than for a fortnight, with $7.00 as top value.

C. Clayton Bourne has leased from the Verplanck Brick Co. 775 feet of brickyard premises at Fishkill, from May 22, 1904, to April 1, 1914, for a rental of 9½ per cent. on the sales exclusive of freight and commission and the amount paid for tempering sand. The rental not to be less than $3,200 per annum. Mr. Bourne has purchased the machinery, fixtures and buildings conveyed by Thomas Dinan to the Verplanck Brick Co. for $19,023.96. The Verplanck Brick Co. has leased to Philip O'Brien and Thomas Vaughey, 1,100 feet of brickyard premises in Fishkill from May 2, 1904, to April 1, 1914, for a rental of 9½ per cent. on sales exclusive of freight, commission and amount paid for tempering sand. The rental not to be less than $1,500 per annum. The Verplanck Brick Co. has also leased to William Lahey 650 feet of brickyard property in Fishkill for ten years on a percentage basis. The yearly rental not to be less than $1,500 per annum.

Sand-lime brick making has become an extensive industry all over the continent of Europe, especially in Germany, and, as we see, is spreading to America. 'Tis said that when civilization creates artificial conditions simple natural things must be replaced by artificial products. While this may indicate one reason why artificial stone bricks were not made when the world was younger, the principal reason is judged to be because the ancients did not have the right kind of machinery. Proper machinery is said to be the key to successful accomplishment in this operation. It is asserted that the brick is a production of a true silicate of limestone—the old Roman mortar which has stood so many centuries; that it is not a concrete made with Portland cement and is absolutely homogeneous throughout, and can, therefore, be cut up and used like—nay better than—natural stone, which has layers, vents and flaws; that it is better than natural stone, because few natural building stones now used will resist the acids in the atmosphere and this stone does. However, we shall see.

STRUCTURAL IRON AND STEEL.

The prices now prevailing ought to be a real inducement to build, and some improvement in sales is reported in material needed in the building line. Iron bridge work is still quiet. Bar iron prices were reaffirmed at a meeting in this city on June 23d.

S. Pearson & Son, Limited, London, have opened an office at 128 Broadway, and there will be another in Long Island City, near the shaft of the East River tunnel, which they are to build. Plans and specifications for the machinery that will be required are being prepared. The first bids asked will be for the power plant at the Long Island end, which will have a capacity of 2,500 boiler horse-power, and will include compressors, engines, generators and pumps.

The Engineering Company of America, 74 Broadway, announce that they will engage in the general engineering, construction and contracting business in addition to their former line. A number of large projects are now being put through by the company in various parts of the country, covering electric railroad construction, water-works, power houses, refrigerating plants, &c. Specifications for mechanical equipment for these plants are now in course of preparation, and within a short time extensive purchases will be made along this line. P. M. Mowrey, the vice-president of the company, is attending to these matters.

GLASS.

At the meeting of the window glass manufacturers, held at Niagara Falls recently, 1,000 pots were represented. There was little business of importance transacted. A committee, composed of nine members, was appointed to formulate a plan of organization and define the conditions under which it is proposed to transact business. It is probable that many manufacturers who are desirous of joining the organization desire to know exactly by what rules and regulations they will be governed after becoming members. This committee will meet the last of this month. A general meeting of manufacturers will be held on July 20 at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, at which time it is expected, by the leaders in the movement, that a permanent organization will be effected. Conditions have not shown any improvement so far as trade is concerned.

RECORD AND GUIDE QUARTERLY

The annual number of the Record and Guide Quarterly contains all the legal records for the past year concerning real estate and projected buildings, arranged alphabetically and numerically, with invaluable annotations. These are supplemented by tables of important transactions, with typical prices, covering the past quarter of a century or more, accompanied by expert comments; also by a list of realty corporations created during the past two years, with officers and the enterprises in which they are engaged. The whole makes a volume of reference which no real estate man can afford to be without. It should be on every desk and in every library. Its cost is as nothing compared to its value as a time-saver. This important work can be obtained, with three quarterly numbers, for the comparatively small sum of $20. It is published by the Record and Guide, at Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., where interested parties may see it and have its uses explained to them. If you cannot call, drop a postal card to the Publisher, or call him up on telephone 3157 Cortlandt.

The Private Branch Exchange System of supplying TELEPHONE SERVICE is particularly adapted to the requirements of LARGE HOTELS and APARTMENT HOUSES

By means of a Private Branch Exchange the general telephone service, local, suburban and long distance, is available in every room and apartment. A complete interior service is also supplied, adding largely to the efficiency, and decreasing the cost of the hotel service proper. No modern Hotel or Apartment House should lack a

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C. and C. a G. are preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed in which all right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

Appointment of Edgar S Appleby as trustee in place John S Su phen under will Leonard Appleby.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed in the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of Judgments the names alphabetically arranged and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (c) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (f) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real names being unknown. Judgments entered during the week and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

The Judgments filed against corporations, etc., will be found at the end of the list.

Architects sometimes must do more than specify--they must persuade. It is the architect's interest to have "Taylor Old Style" on his building.

N. & G. TAYLOR COMPANY
ESTABLISHED 1810
Philadelphia

"Rufus the Roofer" is a breezy booklet, in which the roof question is threshed out in a new vein. It will be sent to anyone on receipt of ten cents in stamps, and is worth more than that simply as entertaining reading.

Vol. LXXIV. JULY 16, 1904. No. 1896.

THE stock market does well to be more cheerful, for it is becoming more than ever apparent that the year 1905 will see a restoration of active and profitable business. It is incredible that the excellent crops which are promised, and which will be sold at good prices, will not give the West and the South a new period of prosperity. Of course, the present crop prospects may not be fulfilled; but it is a fair gamble that they will be, and a man who can buy stocks now and can afford to carry them into the new year, has as good a chance of making money as often occurs. No doubt he should limit his purchases to good railroad securities—particularly of the better Western roads; but eventually the continued prosperity of the West and the South must react upon the great industries of the Middle West and the East, and restore the value of the industrial securities. It is evident, also, that the financial community will take the election without much perturbation or disturbance. The existing monetary standard is secure, in any event; and the tariff or the trusts cannot be issues in any very genuine sense of that word. The big issue will be the personality of the President, which Wall Street does not altogether like, but which it does not fear as much as it once did. The election, consequently, will not stand in the way of a recovery in values, which is in other respects justified. And if the market should recover completely during the next six months, it will be an extraordinarily rapid recuperation from a malady that looked at one time about as serious as possible.

THE EVENING POST, in a recent comment upon the real estate situation, makes a good deal out of a table showing the real estate transactions for the first six months of the last four years. The table runs as follows:

CONVEYANCES.

Year.	Number.	Amount.
1901	7,018	$92,156,839
1902	7,376	86,236,384
1903	8,311	72,357,261
1904	9,232	38,796,101

MORTGAGES.

1901	6,638	$150,733,958
1902	6,239	170,619,108
1903	6,675	159,104,767
1904	8,328	151,176,600

BUILDINGS.

1901	1,205	$69,642,860
1902	513	50,258,180
1903	605	42,643,685
1904	658	37,322,715

About this table the Post says: "The most remarkable feature, of course, is the great falling off in conveyancing. A drop from $92,000,000 to $38,000,000 may be partly explained by the growing habit of suppressing considerations—especially marked since the scheme of full valuation was adopted, but the custom was pretty well established in 1901. The figures represent a distinct falling off of outside capital going into real estate." No doubt, the figures do represent a "distinct" falling off in the investment of capital, whether outside or inside, in real estate; but the decrease, while "distinct," is by no means "great." The difference between the $92,000,000 which was the sum total of the expressed considerations in 1901 and the $38,000,000 which was their sum total in 1904, is to be explained very much more by the increasing practice of recording transfers with nominal considerations than by the decrease in the amount of money invested in real estate in Manhattan during the four years. It will be noticed that the decrease in the total of the considerations has proceeded steadily in spite of the fact that the number of transfers has steadily increased, so that although there were about 1,300 more conveyances recorded during the first six months of 1903 than during the first six months of 1901, there was a decrease of $20,000,000 in the amount of money apparently conveyed. During the first six months of 1904, there was a further increase of almost 1,000 in the number of transfers and a further decrease of about $33,000,000 in the sum of the considerations. But it was only during 1904 that property owners began to realize that they would do well to conceal from the Tax Department the prices their property had cost; and at the present time it is only in the cases of property sold under foreclosure or by executor that the parties insert the consideration. The proportion of deeds carrying nominal prices has largely increased since 1901, and the table given above affords not the remotest indication of the amount now being invested in New York real estate. This may be proved by the Bronx and Brooklyn figures. The number of transfers in the Bronx are fifty per cent. greater than they were four years ago; whereas, the sum of the express considerations is thirty per cent. less. In Brooklyn the number of conveyances has about doubled in four years, while the amount of money involved by them has scarcely increased at all. In both these cases much larger sums are "going" into real estate; but the figures give no inkling of the totals any more than they do in Manhattan.

ONE phase of this redistribution of population is undoubtedly the discovery which some residents of the West Side have recently been making—that they can get what they want in Brooklyn for a smaller price than they are paying in Manhattan. But it should be remarked that if certain families are moving from Manhattan to Brooklyn, certain other families—not so numerous, yet more interesting—have been moving from Brooklyn to Manhattan. Formerly the characteristic part of Brooklyn was the Heights and the streets back of it—containing many fine residences, many old families, and a very entertaining society of its own. This society has not entirely vanished; but many of its wealthier members have bought houses on the East Side of Manhattan, and that part of Brooklyn has benefited only a small extent by the better demand, of late, for real estate in the borough. This reverse migration is an excellent illustration of the redistribution of which we have been speaking. The East Side of Manhattan has become the district for private residences. It is fashionable; it is convenient for people who keep carriages; it is quite; it is near Central Park; it is expensive enough to be exclusive. It offers in a high degree the qualities which appeal to people who have exclusive social standards and can afford to pay for them. The consequence is that, although the demand for dwellings by rich people is much smaller than it used to be, there has been no recession of property values. Indeed, particularly between Lexington and Park Avenues, south of Seventieth Street, these values have actually increased. Only this week the announcement is made that two houses with a frontage of thirty-five feet have been purchased on Sixty-fifth Street, between Park and Lexington Avenues, and that a new and handsome dwelling will be erected on the site. Since it has not been customary to reconstruct more than one house at a time east of Park Avenue, this announcement means a still higher standard of improvement for property in this neighborhood, and possibly still higher values. Indeed, considering the necessary limitations of the district, there is no telling how high values may eventually be forced. For many years to come it will be the one exclusive residential neighborhood of Manhattan.

THE fact to which the Record and Guide recently called attention, viz.: that the present year had established a new low record in the building of Manhattan residences, has awakened a good deal of comment; and the question is frequently asked as to what becomes of the people who used to occupy the thousand new private dwellings which were erected every year. It is certainly an extraordinary change. Just now there can be no doubt that the stock of dwellings in Manhattan is actually decreasing, for the few new houses erected are by no means sufficient in number to make up for the destruction of old residences in districts that are being devoted to business and tenement uses. Yet the demand for residences is lively only in one part of the city; and it is evident that a great transformation has taken place in the domestic habits and needs of many New Yorkers. This change does not consist merely in a preference for apartment houses over private residences, although that is undoubtedly an important part of the business. In spite of the fact that comparatively few new flats, renting from eight hundred dollars a year, up, have recently been built, the demand for such accommodations, compared to the supply, has not greatly increased. The change is not simply one from private residences to flats, it is from one part of the city to another. The increased cost of living in Manhattan is sending many people, who used to live in that borough, either to Brooklyn or the suburbs; and as communication with Brooklyn and the suburbs improves, this redistribution of population will more than ever take place. Families with incomes of $3,500 a year, or more, will have enormous variety of accommodation open to them, ranging from apartment-hotels in the blazing centre of Manhattan, to suburban houses forty miles from the City Hall. Between the two extremes there will be an infinite number of grades, and the choice will be taken less on economic grounds than upon grounds derived from the standards of domestic taste. People who crave the country will seek the outer suburbs. People who prize privacy, but privacy near the centers of social life and interest, will cleave to a Manhattan residence. People who want the bustle and do not prize the privacy, will seek apartments in family hotels or in large centrally situated flat-houses. People who like city life, without caring how near they are to any center of social interest, will seek the middle reaches of Brooklyn. And so it will go. Residential accommodations will be highly specialized, and every family will be stimulated to chose precisely what it wants by being offered every facility for obtaining it.

Bronx Building in 1904.

AS the Record and Guide pointed out last week, the figures covering the real estate transactions for the first half of 1904, show plainly that the Bronx is to be the chief center of activity in the near future. Manhattan has had its several years of advancing values and lively activity in certain sections; and it will, of course, never be superseded as the borough in which real estate operations will retain the most interesting and important character of all. Its building equipment will have to be reconstructed as constantly as the vacant land in the other boroughs will be newly constructed. For the present, however, a large share of the speculative interest will be transferred from Manhattan to the outlying boroughs, which are on the eve of a more rapid expansion than any which they have yet witnessed.

In order to ascertain the probable future of Bronx building at the present time, it will be interesting to classify the improvements for the first six months of the last two years, and see what tendencies they betray. Of course, the totals for the first half of 1904 are much larger than those covering the first half of 1903. During the former year plans were filed for 790 new buildings to be erected at a total cost of $9,289,875, while the corresponding figures for 1903 were 341 new projected buildings calling for an expenditure of $3,519,815. But what direction is this increased building taking? This question is answered by the following table which classifies the new buildings projected to be erected in the Bronx for both years.

	1904. No.	Estimated cost.	1903. No.	Estimated cost.
Tenements	186	$5,327,000	33	$775,000
Business buildings	16	532,000	34	545,000
Miscellaneous	15	1,396,000	26	785,000
Brick dwellings	98	725,700	74	704,000
Frame dwellings	405	1,492,000	176	689,609

Several interesting inferences may be drawn from this table; and in making these inferences we can leave entirely out of account the two classes of business and miscellaneous buildings. The amount of money proposed to be invested in miscellaneous buildings has been much increased, thus far, in 1904 over the corresponding figures of 1903, but this result has been due chiefly to the larger amount of money which the city is spending in the borough for new schools and the like. As for the new business buildings, the changes in the figures are arbitrary and unimportant. It is the alteration in the amount and kind of residential building which makes the significant showing; and it is these figures alone which deserve specific comment.

It will be seen that the number of tenement houses for which plans have been filed are much larger in 1904 than 1903, and that this class of building accounts for most of difference in totals between the two years. During the first six months of the present year, 186 tenements were projected to be built at an estimated cost of $5,327,000, while during the corresponding six months of 1903, the number was 33 and their estimated cost $775,000. This is an increase of 153, or 470 per cent., in the number of buildings, and of $4,552,000, or 606 per cent., in the money to be spent upon them. Furthermore, since the whole increase in money to be spent in the six months of 1904 over 1903 amounts roughly to only $5,700,000, and $4,500,000 is included by the increase in tenement buildings alone, it will be seen that the increase in this class of improvement is almost the whole thing. The Bronx is preparing to accommodate a large part of the overflow from the tenement-house population of Manhattan, and for this purpose it is building large numbers of cheap tenements. In very few instances are these buildings designed to accommodate any but the cheapest class of tenants. Evidently the Bronx is not looking, as yet, for many people who would care to live in elevator apartment houses or in private dwellings, and in this the Bronx builders are right, because the part of the Bronx to be opened up by the subway is destined to be chiefly an extension of the Manhattan East Side.

The fact that the Bronx is as yet not making any extensive preparations for the accommodation of a better class of residents, is shown by the number of plans filed for new brick dwellings. During the first six months of 1903, 74 brick private residences were projected at an estimated cost of $504,000; and these figures were only increased to 98 dwellings to cost $725,000 during the first six months of the current year. The increase is very small compared to the increase in tenement-house building, and does not lead one to infer that there will be many buildings of that character in the part of the Bronx which is now being built up. Frame dwellings outside the fire limits are, on the other hand, being built in large numbers. In the first six months of 1903 plans were filed for only 176 of them, and the corresponding figure for 1904 is 405. The estimated cost of these buildings has also increased from $689,000 to $1,492,000. Thus it is cheap suburban dwellings and cheap tenements to which more than two-thirds of the money spent in the Bronx for new construction is being devoted; and in view of the fact that there is only a small demand for dwellings and relatively expensive apartments in Manhattan, it is not easy to discover just where the middle class well-to-do New Yorker is going to live. Probably, however, many of them are seeking houses in Brooklyn and the better New Jersey and Long Island suburbs.

The rapid building of new tenements in the Bronx is taking place in anticipation of the opening of the subway in the fall; and for some years it will be chiefly the easterly division of that borough, which will feel the influence of the increase in population. No doubt, a good deal of additional territory can be opened up by means of trolley connections with the underground expresses, and, no doubt, also, the local industries of the Bronx will demand increases of population and of buildings to accommodate them in other parts of the borough. Nevertheless, the upper part of the Bronx must await for its proper development some such rapid transit improvement as that proposed by the Portchester Railroad Company, while the westerly division needs an elevated road along Jerome Avenue. The Rapid Transit Commission has been very negligent in not laying out a route on this fine thoroughfare—particularly as it is likely to be that side of the borough on which the better class of improvements will be made. The residents of the Bronx should never cease agitation until they obtain the Portchester Road or its equivalent and a Jerome Avenue extension to the subway system.

Motives and Effects.

ELSEWHERE we print an account of the hearing given by Mayor McClellan in regard to the fireproof ordinance, recently passed by the Board of Aldermen. The hearing, as will be seen, brought forth a number of controversial points involving questions as to the legality of the ordinance, the value and durability of fireproof wood, and even the character of the motives responsible for the conception and passage of the proposed addition to the Building Code. So far as Thursday's hearing was concerned, the Mayor was logically justified in saying that discussion was not properly concerned with the motives that lay behind the ordinance, but should be confined to the public value of the ordinance itself. It is to be hoped, however, that the Mayor will not restrict himself to merely a logical attitude consistent with the purposes of a public hearing. The ordinance is, undoubtedly, rightly or wrongly, under suspicion, and nothing can be more unfortunate than to permit the Building Code to be a battleground and market place for the promotion and exploitation of private interests. If current suspicions have any substantiality, they should be dealt with. If they are unfounded rumors, they should be entirely disposed of, so that architects, builders and owners may accept with confidence the new requirement as an expression of purely public necessity. It will readily be seen that this has a particular force in the case of a special measure that confessedly increases the cost of building, and therefore the cost of living.

Of course, from a certain point of view, which should be frankly admitted, the contentions that became audible before the Mayor were inspired on both sides, largely by interested motives. The fireproof concerns are naturally in favor of all requirements that increase the stringency of our fireproof laws; and owners and builders, and, even in some degree, architects are equally opposed to any measure that seriously increases the cost of building. Unprejudiced opinion does not concern itself with these views, and yet, unprejudiced opinion is undoubtedly opposed, at the present instant, to the new amendment, the chief reason for the opposition being that the proposed building clause has not been sufficiently considered in either its constructional or its economic bearings. To increase the fireproof requirements for building in a city like New York, to the degree that the new ordinance proposes, is a big step. It needs to be considered with the utmost deliberation. Save for the hearing on Thursday, there has been no expert deliberation, for no one will consider the Board of Aldermen experts. The architects of this city have not been considered; our builders have not been heard; owners have not been consulted, and public sentiment has made not the slightest demand that has been heard anywhere. The measure itself may be an excellent one, no matter who promoted it, but its value ought to be carefully established. The Mayor might very advisedly appoint a commission to publicly inquire into the entire matter. Finally, this further question has to be answered: If this new amendment is signed by the Mayor, are the existing manufacturing facilities of the fireproof companies sufficient to immediately supply, at present prices, the demand that will arise? Or, is delay in procuring material inevitable, accompanied by higher prices?

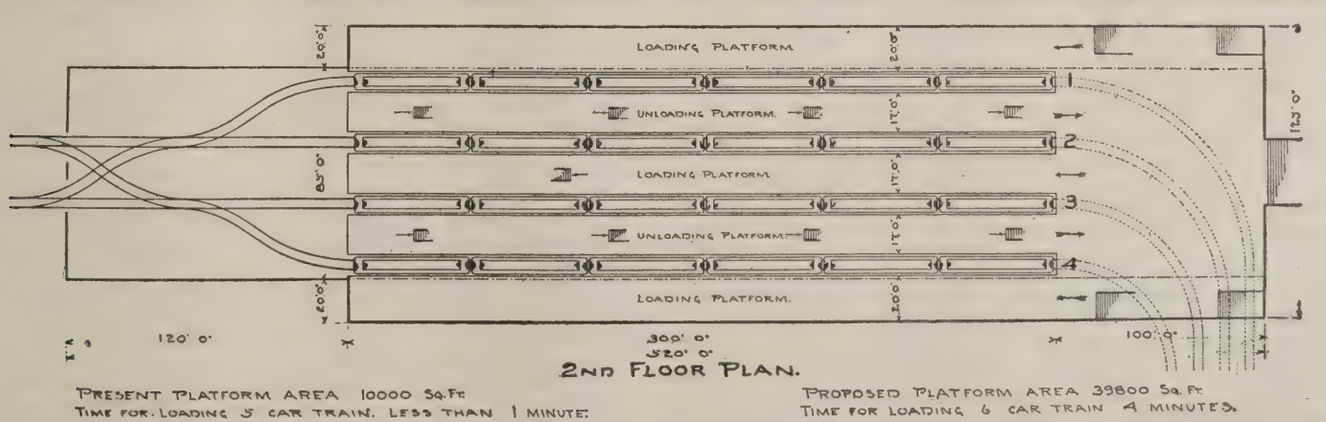
The Manhattan Terminal of the New York and Brooklyn Bridge.

THE POULSON SYSTEM APPARENTLY THE ONLY ONE TO GIVE ADEQUATE RELIEF WITHIN A REASONABLE TIME.

During the past seven or more years the barbarous conditions at the Manhattan terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge have been the subject of much discussion and controversy without any relief being afforded to the disagreeable and dangerous crowding and fighting to get into trains. With the passing years and the increase in number of passengers, the conditions have steadily grown worse, and only those familiar with the subject can fully realize how important it is to the best interests of life and limb and common decency that some feasible plan be adopted and promptly carried out to overcome the unseemly pressure by utilizing existing waste space, and using it to the best advantage. A number of plans have been officially prepared and presented for approval by the authorities; first came the plan prepared by Mr. Martin, the former engineer of the bridge, a number of years ago; then the plans and suggestions made by the engineers appointed by former Mayor Van Wyck; subsequently the plans made by former Bridge Commissioner Lindenthal; and all these set aside for the scheme of the present Bridge Commissioner, Mr. Best. It is no unusual thing when a new city administration comes into power for a commissioner to throw his predecessor's plans into the waste basket and prepare entirely new plans. The Best plans contemplate the acquirement of additional land and the erection of a tall terminal-office building, all at a stated cost of $8,500,000, and relief promised in eighteen months' time. From past experience it will be generally believed that such undertakings cost twice as much and take twice as long as is at first estimated. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has approved the plans submitted by Commissioner Best, and has committed the city to the extent of authorizing condemnation proceedings for the acquisition of the additional land required. Even the first step, that of acquiring land, may be long delayed by the legal proceedings which were commenced on Thursday last before Supreme Court Justice Giegerich on behalf of interested owners and lessees of property in the neighborhood. It is said of the Best plans, as illustrated in the daily press, that they will not afford adequate relief, and all that they propose to do can be arranged much quicker and better at the old terminal. Besides, it is a debatable question whether it is wise for the city to erect a great office building as part of a bridge entrance. The present terminal can be made beautiful as well as practical, and the bridge deserves all that can be done for it, either in the way of beauty or utility.

While paid officials of the city have thus far produced no terminal plan that merits being carried out, it has remained for one private citizen, Mr. Niels Poulson, to give much intelligent thought to the matter and work out feasible plans for the solution of the problem. Mr. Poulson has had great experience in the designing and construction of bridge and railroad terminals, and fortunately for the public, he has given from his ample fortune and pressing business duties both money and time without stint in working out and placing before the authorities—and that, too, with no other thought than to benefit his fellow citizens—plans for the reconstruction of the Brooklyn Bridge terminal in such a way that no great expense is involved, and yet by utilizing waste time and waste space, passengers would be given about eight times as much time to board the cars as at present, there would be provided about eight times more platform space than now, and the passenger-carrying capacity would be increased from 50 to 100 per cent. by having longer trains and running more trains per hour.



1ST. FLOOR PLAN.

SHOWING THE POULSON ARRANGEMENT OF BRIDGE PLATFORM.

Mr. Poulson's plans are illustrated below, and we commend them to our readers for careful study. The plans are those of a practical and experienced man, and have been closely examined and approved by the Manufacturers' Association, the Brooklyn League, the Congress Club, the Bay Ridge Citizens' Association, the Committee of Fifty, and by the Brooklyn Chapter of the American Institute of Architects. The endorsement of these societies alone carry conviction to the ordinary mind. The carrying out of these plans promise quick and permanent relief for the bridge travel.

The bridge problem has long seemed to be a very complex one, but in the light of Mr. Poulson's plans and statements, it turns out to be a remarkably simple one. At present during rush hours the immense crowd of persons going to Brooklyn is handled from one platform containing less than 5,000 square feet, and a four-car train can stop only from 30 to 50 seconds; hence, the scrambling and fighting to get into a train within an unmeasurably short time. Where trains came as fast as one in every minute, to enable a train to stop for unloading and loading, it must go on a siding. There are two tracks and a train can, therefore, stop nearly one minute for unloading and nearly one minute for loading. Mr. Poulson's first remedy is to have more sidings and platforms, every additional siding adding one minute to the time allowed for each train to stand still for loading. If there is only one siding, all trains can stand still only one minute; with two sidings they can stand still two minutes; with three sidings, three minutes, and so on. The present terminal structure has room for seven sidings, and so each train could stand still about seven minutes for unloading and loading, each particular line could have its own platform and time table, and the passengers would get off and on from opposite sides of the car simultaneously.

Mr. Poulson shows that there is ample room in the present terminal to handle in reasonable comfort all the people who possibly could come over the bridge. The switching of trains from an incoming to an outgoing track is now done at the extreme westerly end of the station. Mr. Poulson proposes to do all the switching and crossing over of trains at the entrance end of the station, and arrange the tracks and platforms in the same way as in all other railroad terminals. Time is needed more than space, for if a train of cars has to be loaded in less than a minute, an open square would not obviate the scrambling through doors and windows of passengers to get in within that limit of time. But both time and space can be provided, and that too without any additional land. Broadening out within the present station is more important than lengthening the station toward City Hall Park or along Centre street. If trains can be successfully handled at the terminals of all the great railroads of the country, they can be handled with equal safety at the bridge terminal. The present switches and cross-overs are at the wrong end of the station; the tail-switching should be abolished and the "head-house" system substituted. All railroading is more or less dangerous, but modern railroad appliances are adequate for the switching of trains with expedition and safety, however numerous.

Mr. Poulson's entire scheme for the handling of the passenger traffic of the bridge is complete and practicable, and is entirely in line with the future contemplated uniting of the elevated roads and the bridge connections. The elevated railroad traffic is fully provided for, and without any climbing of stairs at either end of the bridge; and the trolley travel is also provided for by unloading on the north side of the station and sending the empty cars over the people to the south side for loading.

It is because the plans of Mr. Poulson alone offer adequate and permanent relief, and within a reasonable time, and at a comparatively small cost, that we urge their adoption by the city authorities. It is not too late for the officials to recede from the position which they have taken for the carrying out of the elaborate, costly and faulty Best plans. Two months of alteration work in the way of change to utilize existing waste space, will accomplish more than the expenditure of millions of money and the consumption of years of time in another direction. It is immediate relief that means so much to Brooklyn, not only to the material advance of that great section of our city, but for the comfort and safety of the millions of people who have to use the bridge in going to and from their homes.

The Mayor Hears About Fireproof Wood.

VIEWS OF VARIOUS INTERESTS—BUILDERS, ARCHITECTS, PATENTEES AND TAXPAYERS SPEAK.

Uppermost among the topics of the now in the building world is the fireproof wood question, because of the pending legislation which requires all buildings of a height exceeding seventy-five feet to be built fireproof, in the same manner as buildings of more than 150 feet under the existing regulations. The Mayor has until the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen to sign the ordinance, if he decides so to do. Many objections to the measure have been entered, first to the committee of buildings, and recently to the Mayor himself, from builders, architects and owners. The Building Trades' Employers' Association and the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects have both sent letters of remonstrance, and in response to a number of requests the Mayor appointed a hearing for Thursday morning of this week, at which both sides were heard, and the result of which is being awaited with keen interest.

It was last Winter when the measure was first introduced by Mr. McCall in the Board of Aldermen, and almost simultaneously a similar bill was put into the Legislature at Albany, but was not passed. A like fate was generally supposed to await the local ordinance, especially after representative builders had stated their objections at a hearing that was accorded by the Building Committee. The bill, which finally received the votes of all the Aldermen present and voting except two, is simply an amendment to Section 105 of the Building Code, changing the maximum for non-fireproof buildings from 150 to 75 feet, with the exception that the wording of the new ordinance permits outside window frames to be of wood as well as other parts. The ordinance is as follows:

That section 105 of the Building Code of The City of New York is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 105—Fireproof Buildings. Every building hereafter erected or altered to be used as a theatre, hotel, lodging house, school (theatre), jail, police station, hospital, asylum, institution for the (care) use or treatment of persons, the height of which exceeds thirty-five feet, excepting all buildings for which specifications and plans have been heretofore submitted to and approved by the (Department of Buildings) proper public authorities, and every other building the height of which exceeds seventy-five feet (, except as herein otherwise provided,) shall be built fireproof; that is to say (,): (they) They shall be constructed with walls of brick, stone, Portland cement, concrete, iron or steel, in which wooden beams or lintels shall not be placed (, and in which the floors and roofs shall be of materials provided for in section 106 of this Code). The stairs and staircase landings shall be built entirely of brick, stone, Portland cement, concrete, iron or steel. No wood work or other inflammable material shall be used in any of the partitions, furrings or ceilings in any such (fireproof) buildings, excepting, however, (that when the height of the building does not exceed twelve stories nor more than one hundred and fifty feet) the doors and windows and their frames (, the) and trims, the casings, the interior finish when filled solid at the back with fireproof material, and the floor boards and sleepers directly thereunder, may be of wood (, but the space between the sleepers shall be solidly filled with fireproof materials and extend up to the under side of the floor boards. When the height of a fireproof building exceeds twelve stories, or more than one hundred and fifty feet, the floor surfaces shall be of stone, cement, rock, asphalt, tiling or similar incombustible material, or the sleepers and floors may be of wood) treated by some process approved by the Board of Buildings, or other public authorities now having jurisdiction in such matters, to render the same fireproof (. All outside window frames and sash shall be of metal) or of wood covered with metal, but the space between the sleepers shall be solidly filled with fireproof materials and extend up to the under side of the floor boards. (The inside window frames and sash, doors, trim and other interior finish may be of wood covered with metal, or of wood treated by some process approved by the Board of Buildings, to render the same fireproof.)

In practice the code as thus amended would force the use of fireproofed wood upon the public, for the general and natural tendency is to avoid the more expensive forms of fireproofing. We are either not yet mechanically or financially able to get along without wood in constructing our buildings.

The exceptions to this rule are increasing, but we are a long way from being independent of the material. Whenever wood is used, this new law says, it must either be covered with metal or fireproofed. The present cost of fireproofing lumber is about fifty dollars per thousand feet, which equals or exceeds the original cost of the material, so that it is commonly said that the fireproofing will add one hundred per cent. to the cost of the carpenter work in a building.

At the hearing which the Mayor gave on Thursday morning, it was said by builders that the added expense would greatly reduce the amount of building and would be particularly ill-advised now that building in Manhattan is flat; that as but few firms can supply the treated wood, the ordinance would create a monopoly for a few who would charge exorbitant prices. In view of this contention the following list of manufacturers or producers of material approved by the Bureau of Buildings is important:

Materials approved by Bureau of Buildings for use in fireproof buildings where fireproof wood is required: Electric Fireproofing Company's wood, Fireproofine Manufacturing Company's wood, American Wood Fireproofing Company, Magnesia Building Lumber, Cheinanus Flooring, Asbestolith Flooring, Taylorite, Flooring, Kalamein Doors and Frames, F. P. Alignum Lignolith.

Schraveiser, White Fireproof Construction Co., Freeman-Dobbin Fireproofing Co., American Fireproof Construction Co., New York Expanded Metal Co., John Krolman, Atlas Construction Co., American Concrete Steel Co., Wight-Easton-Townsend Co., American Cement and Fireproofing Co.

A committee of three appeared before the Mayor in behalf of the Building Trades Employers' Association Thursday morning, namely, Lewis Harding, Bond Thomas and George A. Just. Addressing Mayor McClellan, Mr. Harding said this ordinance enacted would have a depressing effect upon the public in whose interest it purports to be, and would prevent as much building as has been customary in the past. If it were truly a measure for the public safety it would not permit the use of wood for outside window-frames, which permission was, he said, a step backward.

"We are convinced," he said, "because of this and other features of the new ordinance, that it was introduced for the benefit of a certain single industry controlled by patents and in the hands of two or three firms. Safety was not the motive The only way it appeals to us is as something for the benefit of an industry controlled by patents."

"You think, then," interposed the Mayor, "that as the demand increases, the supply will not increase."

"Yes," answered Mr. Harding; "the business is in the hands of a few, and is controlled by patents." He further claimed that in a few years at best the treated wood lost its fireproof qualities.

In reply to this, the Mayor rejoined that he had a letter from Naval Constructor Gilmore, saying that in the case of the U. S. torpedo boat "Winslow" it had been found upon investigation that after five years the fireproof quality of the wood used was as good and as much a protection as at first.

Mr. Bond Thomas, also of the Building Trades Employers' Committee, spoke against the ordinance on the ground, first, that it would increase the cost and therefore lessen the amount of building. Asked by the Mayor to what extent it would increase the cost, he said 100 per cent. for the woodwork, and that the carpenter work in the class of buildings affected amounts to from 20 to 30 per cent. of the total cost.

George A. Just, who was a member of the commission which drafted the present building code, denounced the new ordinance. He repeated the charge that the ordinance was drafted for the benefit of the firms which control the fireproofing patents.

"It is not a question," the Mayor said, "of motives which may have caused this ordinance to be passed. What I want to know is what effect it will have to protect life and property."

Mr. Charles H. Israels called the Mayor's attention to the resolutions passed by the Executive Committee of the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, which had been placed in his hands, and which declared that the committee considered fireproofed wood to be in an experimental stage, and that, while not opposing any measure which would make for better constructing, the Chapter opposed the enactment of the ordinance in its present shape, as it shut out other materials non-fireproof and discriminated in favor of a comparatively untried material. He considered the ordinance too radical, and argued that the claims of the manufacturers of so-called fireproof wood had not been put to a sufficient test.

Colonel W. D. Mann said it seemed to him that we labor under enough taxation and tribute. No new tax should be laid in the interest of any sort of monopoly. "I contend that this fireproof wood does not make any building safer, but less so. The Lord only knows what will be the effect if two or three patentees should have a monopoly of something that every builder is compelled to use. These patentees could fix any price they wish. I have worked in wood for forty years," he said, "and I don't believe that ordinary wood can be made to resist fire. It may retard fire for a time, it may have some resisting quality for a time, but we don't build for five or ten years only, but for centuries."

Mr. Flemming, a former Assistant Corporation Counsel in the Bureau of Buildings, described the difficulties that the Bureau has had in the past in making tests of fireproofed wood, and questioned the legality of the measure on account of the provisions of Section 43 of the Charter, which seemed to raise a doubt as to the power of any official body other than the Bureau of Buildings, to originate such a statute. He referred to investigations that he had made into the subject, and made it plain that he spoke from experience. He had found that the effect of the process upon wood was very slight. No one could tell without testing, whether wood had been treated or not. You can tell that a stone is a stone, and that iron is iron, but not whether wood is fireproof or not. A certain chemist made all the tests for the Building Department, and the fireproofing companies paid his fees, but while one part of the material might be fireproof, another portion in the same lot might not be, owing to the irregularity of the process, so that no one could be sure that he was getting fireproof wood when he paid for it.

He said the Board of Aldermen should have taken the advice of the Building Department, and the direction of the Charter was to this effect, and inasmuch as this had not been done in this case, it was a fatal defect. Mayor McClellan seemed to be much impressed by this point, and conferred for a moment with Superintendent Hopper, who was present. Mr. Flemming continuing, said the public would be absolutely at the mercy of the fireproof wood manufacturers. "I don't believe it is any protection at all."

Professor Robert Ogden Doremus, the chemist, spoke against the particular ordinance, but favored some ordinance which would make contractors use only fireproofed wood, and he wanted all decorations in theaters, scenery, etc., treated in the same way. Professor Doremus said he had lost a child forty years ago. The little one's dress caught fire and it was fatally burned. He went on to say:

With that as an incentive, I have for forty years made a study of this subject. I have read everything that has been written, and have spent many hours in my laboratory. I say to you, Mr. Mayor and gentlemen, that wood can be rendered flame proof. Anybody can treat it with phosphate of ammonia, and it will not burn. Fabrics can be treated in this way and made absolutely non-inflammable."

Mr. George Edward Harding cited a number of instances in his experience as an architect where fireproof wood had accomplished all that was claimed for it, and he was followed by the representative of The Fireproofine Company, who admitted that he was inspired by a selfish motive, but asserted that this was also true of everyone who had spoken. He said the only question at issue was whether the public interest would be advanced or not. "I contend that the great majority of buildings are less than 150 feet in height, and the people occupying them are just as much entitled to protection. The time will come when every building, no matter what its height, will be fireproofed. I maintain that it is the duty of the City of New York to prevent destruction from fire when it may, and the claim that it will add something to the cost of buildings to make them fireproof is not a question in the case."

The extra cost would not be as large as had been said. He could speak from exact knowledge, and knew that in the case of the St. Regis Hotel the extra cost on account of fireproof wood was but one per cent. of the total. In the building Forty-Two Broadway, it was not one per cent., in the New Amsterdam Theater it was no more than two per cent.

Mr. Augustus Doherty, who was formerly secretary of the Fire Department of this city, expressed his approval of the proposed amendment to the Building Code, saying: "I made a careful study of the laws enacted for the purpose of safe-guarding buildings against fire. I know how determined the department always was to see that the law was properly obeyed, but notwithstanding that fact, disastrous fires frequently occurred, so bad were some that when the apparatus would reach the scene of the fire, the entire building would be in flames from cellar to roof. This could not occur if the interior construction of the building was reasonably fireproof.

"If buildings constructed in accordance with the proposed amendment to the Building Code would offer the least possible risk of life, fires would then be confined to the apartment where they originated; but in buildings, the interior of which are constructed with non-fireproof material, most of our disastrous fires will always occur. Any increase in the number of fires would be greatly retarded, and in a measure almost prevented, by the use of fireproofing material.

"To-day the use of metal covered or fireproofing material is required in all buildings of over twelve stories. If this resolution becomes a law, the same law will apply to buildings over six stories in height, which, in my opinion, is a wise and proper precaution. It is in just such structures that a terrible loss of life occurs in case of fire. New York City has been rebuilt several times, and each rebuilding has been upon a better and grander scale.

"Any measure calculated to upset the existing order of things, no matter how beneficial it may be to the people, will always meet with violent opposition; but when once established and its general good recognized, then the people who were most persistent in preventing its adoption, become its strongest advocates.

"Humanitarians will find it hard to condemn any measure designed to promote the safety of life and property. On the contrary, the student of market conditions is not concerned as to whether the proposed ordinance is or is not meritorious. Of course such persons are opposed to anything that strikes at their pecuniary interests. That is the practical side of the matter.

"I am actuated in giving this measure my support, solely for the reason that I consider the people living in crowded tenements should have the same protection against fire as those occupying apartments in the most magnificent apartment houses. Let any person walk through the crowded districts of the city and examine for themselves the condition of the buildings, and they will realize then that this measure is not only right and proper, but is of the highest importance and should become a law."

The Bureau of Buildings was represented at the hearing by Superintendent Hopper and Engineer Rudolph Miller, and among others present, were Hugh Getty, Gustavus Isaacs, Mortimer Fox and William A. Boring. Mr. Hopper did not speak at the meeting, but afterward, when privately asked if he was an advocate of fireproof wood, answered: "I believe in fireproof wood, but haven't seen any yet."

ARCHITECTS IN OPPOSITION.

During the week a number of architects were asked by the Record and Guide to express their views on the subject of fireproof wood.

Mr. George B. Post, when approached, said: "I have not read the ordinance, but, on general principles, do not believe that it should be signed by the Mayor. I don't believe in fireproofing the wood, but in making the building itself fireproof. There is scarcely a large fireproof building in which there have not been a number of fires of which the world has never heard, which have simply burned themselves out. The Fire Department has not been notified. A building should be so constructed that there should be no vacant spaces in it. The question of the wood is then unimportant."

Mr. Walter Cook, of Babb, Cook & Willard, replied: "The architects don't feel that the fireproofing of wood has been demonstrated sufficiently, and therefore don't believe in it. The cost of building under the new ordinance would be much increased. Another effect would be to increase the height of new buildings, and as a profession we are opposed to anything which tends to increase the number of very high buildings. I hope that the ordinance will not be signed."

Mr. Arnold W. Brunner is in Europe, but there seemed to be no doubt in his office as to his opinion. The most recent experience of the office had been decidedly unfortunate. Fireproofed wood had been used in the tread of the stairs of the last office building erected under Mr. Brunner's supervision, and by reason of that experience its use hereafter would be improbable by him, except in cases made obligatory by law. The wood in this instance began to sweat soon after usage, became very objectionable in color, did not at any time admit of a fine finish, and was ruinous to the tools of the workmen.

Mr. Lloyd Warren, of Warren & Wetmore, said he had not made a very thorough study of the question, and therefore was not prepared to give an opinion, but that two very curious examples of some of the results of fireproofing wood had recently come to his knowledge. Two different architects in putting gutters on roofs, had used fireproofed wood under copper sheeting. Chemical action had arisen. The copper had been eaten through. The work had been spoiled. The "jobs" had to be done over again. It had been often shown that fireproofed wood did not withstand flame, but became charred.

Mr. H. J. Hardenbergh said he did not believe in the fireproofing of wood. "If the ordinance as passed becomes law, it will be the rankest kind of injustice. The expense of building will be increased. There will be no compensation to the owner. I hope that the ordinance will not be signed. I have often used fireproofed wood, but find that after a while spots are apt to come out and spoil the finish."

Mr. J. Lawrence Aspinwall, of Renwick, Aspinwall & Oowen, said: "Some years ago I made a study of the fireproofing of wood. I would believe in it if one could rely on it, but one can not. There should be some substitute for it. When Mr. O. B. Potter put up the Potter Building, kalomein was very extensively used in that building, and has been in use ever since. Recent facts have shown serious defects. We are using Alignum doors in the houses of comfort which we are building for the city. Alignum is a composition, made perhaps 75 per cent. of asbestos and 25 per cent. of ashes, and materials only known to the makers. It costs more than fireproofed wood, is heavier, but requires less care, is more impervious, and consequently much better for the uses we are putting it to. The real utility of fireproofed wood has not been sufficiently demonstrated. I hope that the ordinance will not be signed."

Mr. Robert Maynicke is not a believer in the utility of fireproofed wood. "It is not so much the wood that is used in the floors or walls of a modern house that causes serious loss," he said, "as it is the contents and the furniture of the room or building. I remember seeing, when last in Germany, the wreck of an enormous building. It had been a warehouse and at the time of the fire was filled with jute, molasses, and similar inflammable materials. Everything was burned but the walls." Mr. Maynicke mentioned numerous instances of fires in modern fireproofed buildings, which had been very destructive in a small space, but of which the world outside had never heard. A dealer in feathers occupied a large space in one of the buildings recently erected by him on Fifth avenue. The feathers were kept in pine boxes. The office partitions were of pine. The furniture was of the modern type, highly varnished. There was a fire. The entire place was gutted, but nothing else in the building had been damaged. The same thing happened in the space occupied by a well-known manufacturer of photographic supplies, with the same result. No, fireproofing the wood, even if you are sure of it, and you're not, is not so important. When a lot of wood is delivered you can't take every piece and examine it with a blow pipe. It is the fireproofing of the building itself that is important. I hope that the measure you speak of will not become a law."

Mr. Charles C. Haight began the study of fireproofed wood soon after it had been introduced. "Some years ago," he said, " I used it in the interior woodwork of a house I was building. The coloring was, and still is most satisfactory. Fortunately no fire has occurred, so that for that particular work I can not speak of its fireproof qualities, only of the coloring. I have often specified it, and its use is permitted by our navies and by the navies of the world, but I do not think that its value has been sufficiently demonstrated. I am not prepared to express a decided opinion, but certainly do not see why unnecessary expense should be entailed upon owners of realty. I hope, therefore, that the Mayor will not sign the ordinance as passed."

Mr. Owen Brainard, of Carrere & Hastings, said: "I wish that some substitute could be found. Fireproofed wood is never perfectly satisfactory, and only approximately satisfactory in its very best state. The process is difficult and complicated, and is only successful when it is done most conscientiously. It is very difficult to inspect the wood thoroughly so as to be sure that the work has been properly treated.

"The permanency of the treatment has never been determined, and it is very probable that it is not permanent, even in the most favorable conditions of building. The effect of the chemical treatment on the wood itself is a grave question. I have seen wood that has apparently lost all its strength on account of its treatment. In regard to the finish? There has been no sure way of fireproofing wood so that the 'finish' would be durable.

"I would be very reluctant to-day to use it under any but ideal conditions—Conditions which would involve certainty as to its treatment, as to its inspection, and as to the temperature of the building in which it was to be placed.

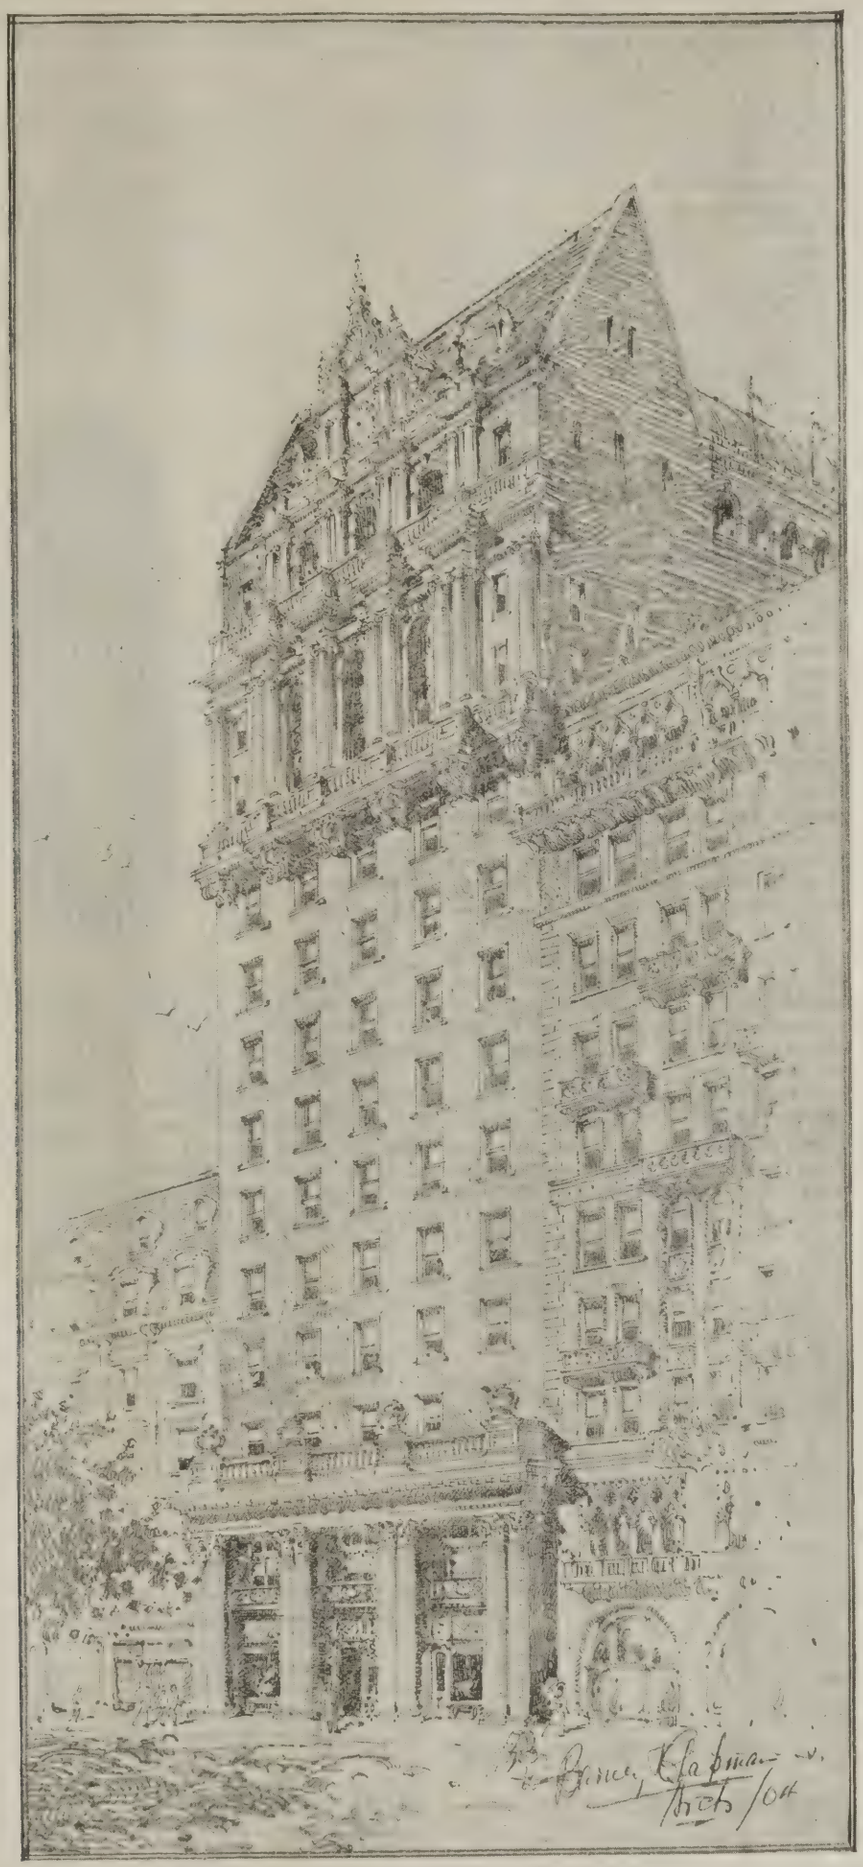
"As to substitutes, I know of none which are satisfactory. The truth of the whole matter of making the wood used in a building fireproof has never been adequately studied, and is undoubtedly the weakest point of our present-day construction."

Worthington P ant Will Cost Two Million.

The new works for the Henry R. Worthington Branch of the International Steam Pump Company, which are large enough to employ 6,000 men, and will cost over $2,000,000, are nearly finished, in the Hackensack Meadow region, near Harrison, N. J. To those who have questioned the advisability of reclaiming the meadows for manufacturing purposes, the experience of this company will prove valuable. After extensive tests of the bearing power of the soil, it was found perfectly satisfactory, providing proper precautions were taken in proportioning the size of the foundations, and it was not found necessary to resort to piling on any part of the property.

The total floor area of the plant is eighteen acres, and one building alone, the machine shop, covers over 130,000 square feet of ground. It will take care of the work now done at the Brooklyn and Elizabethport plants, which are to be sold, and its capacity will be much greater than these two combined, in order to meet the rapidly-increasing trade.

The buildings are arranged in two groups, but are so planned that the materials will progress regularly from department to department from the time the pig iron enters the storage yard near the foundry until the finished machine leaves the testing floor to be loaded upon the freight car on the spurs which connect with the Erie, Lackawanna and Pennsylvania railroads. The foundries, pattern warehouse and shop and auxiliary buildings form the southern group of the plant; the machine shops and shipping and warehouse buildings form the northern group. There will be one large foundry, 600 feet long and 141 feet wide, in which the heaviest castings required by modern engineering can be made.



At the main office of the H. R. Worthington Company, 114 Liberty street, Manhattan, the Record and Guide was informed that the works will be ready for occupancy, as is expected, in October. V. J. Hedden & Sons Company, No. 1 Madison avenue, Manhattan, are the general contractors for the buildings, which are practically complete. The equipment is now being put in.

More Westinghouse Steam Turbines for South Africa.

The De Beers Mines Company, Ltd., Kimberly, South Africa, have cabled an order for a third Westinghouse-Parsons steam turbine generating outfit of 1,500 kw. capacity for their power plant at Kimberly.

The new turbine unit will be similar in every respect to the two which have been in operation for somewhat over a year. That a concern with the standing of the De Beers Company should install machinery built at such a distance, speaks well for the confidence which they place in it.

The new turbine unit will operate at 150 pounds boiler pressure, 35 degree superheat and about 23-in. vacuum. Taking into account the altitude of Kimberly, this would be equivalent to about 27-in. vacuum at sea level. The new unit will be shipped via New York in about six months.

NEW ADDITION TO THE HOFFMAN HOUSE.

Broadway, between 24th and 25th Streets. Barney & Chapman, Architects.

The design of Messrs. Barney & Chapman, of 520 5th av, for the new Hoffman House, to replace the older portion of that structure on Broadway between 24th and 25th sts, calls for an ornamental building 14 stories high, with brick front, and decorative columnar architecture through the first and second stories and again through the eleventh and twelfth stories. The intermediate wall space is severely plain. There is no wide overhanging cornice, which usually accompanies this style of decoration, but a high receding roof, on the center line of which is a tall, ornate dormer, which proves to be the chief feature of the design. Variety is given to the front, which of necessity must be a flat design—a facade—by the shadow of the projection at the eleventh story floor line and the great consols supporting it. The site is an ideal one, facing Madison Square and the building will be visible blocks away.

Selection of Architects for Engineering Building.

The conference committee of the three national engineering societies and of the Engineers' Club, charged with the responsibility of giving effect to the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie of $1,500,000 for the erection of the two buildings in New York City, suitable for their respective purposes, has reached an important stage in its work, and this week has made the selection of architects for the respective structures. It was the expressed wish of Mr. Carnegie that the competition should be a mixed one, so that in addition to selecting six competent architects, the committee threw the work open to all comers and provided a prize scheme to compensate the best competitors in the open class. Since the middle of June the committee has received 26 complete sets of competitive plans for the two buildings inclusive, comprising over 500 drawings, and with the assistance of Prof. W. R. Ware as expert adviser, has spent a good deal of time in the consideration of these designs, all of which, of course, were submitted anonymously. The conclusions now reached are unanimous and are approved by the professional adviser. The successful competitor for the United Engineering building is Mr. Herbert D. Hale of Boston, with Henry G. Morse of New York as associate architect. Mr. Hale is a grandson of Edward Everett Hale, and has done a large amount of public architecture in New England and has constructed some Carnegie libraries, besides doing a very considerable amount of work for the New York Shipbuilding Company. The successful competitors for the Engineers' Club are Whitfield & King of New York, who have done a large amount of work in New York City and on various Carnegie libraries, and were also associated in work on the buildings of the Pan-American Exposition. The designs of this firm were also among those favorably considered for the United Engineering building, awarded to Mr. Hale. The successful competitors in the open class for four equal prizes of $400 each in addition to Mr. Hale, are Trowbridge & Livingston of New York, Frank C. Roberts & Co. with Edgar V. Seeler, associate, Philadelphia, and Allen & Collins of Boston. It is interesting to note that a very large proportion of the competitive designs came from Boston, and that the largest prize, namely, the award for the United Engineering building, as well as one of the smaller money prizes, has gone to that city.

Details have already been given in the Record and Guide as to the nature of the two buildings, which will require for construction from $1,100,000 to $1,200,000. The United Engineering building will occupy land 125 feet front by 100 feet on West 39th street, while the club, with a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 100 feet, will face on Bryant Park and the new public library. The United Engineering building, aside from quarters for the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the American Institute of Mining Engineers, as well as other societies enabled to participate in the accommodations, will have several fine auditoriums and a magnificent library. The club building will be about 11½ stories high, with the usual accommodations of a club and some 60 or 70 bedrooms for members. The work of tearing down the old buildings and the construction of the new, is to be pushed vigorously and will begin forthwith.

Building for John D. Rockefeller.

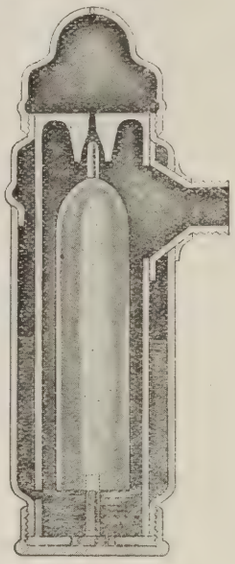
The Thompson-Starrett Company has just secured the contract for the 17-sty office building to be built by Mr. John D. Rockefeller in Cleveland, Ohio, on the site of the Weddell House, at one time the best-known hotel in that city. There have been a great many stories about Mr. Rockefeller's building enterprises, but this, as we believe, is the only office building that he has ever undertaken.

Government Elevator Contracts.

The Marine Engine and Machine Company, with offices at No. 1123 Broadway, this city, have been awarded the contracts for the installation of the electric elevators at the new custom house and post office at Baltimore, Md., and for the new custom house and post office at Covington, Ky., under specifications issued by the supervising architect of the United States Treasury Department.

Lackawanna Will Also Tunnel.

The interesting fact that the Lackawanna Railroad intends building a tunnel under the Hudson River was adduced through testimony given this week before the commissioners appointed to condemn lands in Jersey City for the proposed tunnel spur to be built by the New York & New Jersey branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad from the terminus of the Hudson River tunnel at the foot of 15th st, Jersey City, to Hoboken. William D. Edwards, counsel for the Lackawanna Railroad, said the proposed spur would prevent the Lackawanna from tunneling under the Hudson because it would have to go so deep to get under the spur that it could not reach the surface except by a grade too steep for the operation of trains.



This makes four Hudson River tunnels projected, two being now under construction. No intimation of the proposed location of the terminal of the Lackawanna tunnel on the Manhattan side of the river has been given, but wherever it goes a big slice of property will be taken, as in the case of the Pennsylvania.

Product and Appliance.

CHEAPER STEAM HEATING.

One of the greatest troubles in steam heating is apt to be that the air valves on the radiators do not work when they should. This often comes from tampering with the adjustment of the valve, and, too, the expansion post sometimes becomes warped or strained from poor adjustment or overheating.

A new air valve has been brought out which is non-adjustable, and, consequently, cannot be tampered with, and which has no expansion post, but depends for its operation entirely on the expansion and contraction of air.

A sectional view of the valve is shown on this page which will give an idea of the device. When the radiator is cold the air in the outer shell of the valve contracts, drawing the water from around the float through the hole at the bottom of the well. This allows the cold air to escape, and the radiator to fill with steam. When steam reaches the valve it heats the air, drawing the water out of the outer shell, lifting the float, closing the valve.

Those interested in watching the working of this valve can have a sample mailed free on application to the manufacturers, Norwall Mfg. Co., Western Union Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

The Quarterly.

The second Record & Guide Quarterly for 1904 is ready for delivery. This publication includes all the conveyances, mortgages, projected buildings, alterations, auction sales and leases, arranged alphabetically and numerically, recorded from April 1 to June 30, 1904. Price, $6; yearly subscription, $20.

Material Market.

BRICK.

The Diamond Stone Brick Company is completing a plant at Wilmington, Del., for the manufacture of sand-lime brick, and expects to begin operations within the next two or three weeks. These brick are manufactured from silica sand and calcium lime. They will stand a crushing strain greater than any clay brick, and a greater degree of temperature; and the manufacturers guarantee a water absorption of less than 12 per cent. These brick improve with age in the atmosphere or under water, and will not crack or disintegrate by freezing. They can be furnished of any shade or color desired, but the natural color is a gray, resembling Indiana limestone or sandstone. The Charles Warner Company, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., will supply the raw materials for manufacturing the brick, and will have the general sales agency. Delivery can be made by water to New York, Philadelphia, Trenton andCamden, N. J., Baltimore, Washington, Norfolk and Portsmouth, and via rail to intermediate points.

Elijah Walsh, of Newburgh, is about to put the old Walsh brickyard at New Windsor in action again. It has been idle for several years.

John Peirce, of New York, the contractor for the academic building at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, placed his order for the brick, amounting to 5,000,000, with the Champion Brick Company, of Baltimore.

Fredenburg & Lounsbury, 289 4th av, report business in front brick as holding up fairly from all general points within the district. The largest contract of note that the firm has on hand is for the front brick for the Columbia College Dormitory, of which McKim, Mead & White are the architects and M. Reid & Co. are the builders. For this job they are supplying 500,000 Harvard brick.

STRUCTURAL MATERIAL.

Contractors are making many estimates on buildings, but the estimates do not develop into orders. It is interesting to note in this connection that foreign beams are going into some building work recently put in hand in this city. It appears that German beams can be imported at a rate somewhat under the domestic seaboard price. Plates are very quiet, buyers waiting for the outcome of this week's meeting of the Plate Association. Bar iron is in light demand, but prices are steady.

STONE.

The Hudson River Blue Stone Co., 280 Broadway, report: "We can say that business is good and prices are fair, but the trade generally, so far as municipal work is concerned, is carried along on old contracts which have been running over sufficiently to keep us busy. But nothing new is being given out. As to general construction work, it has held up well. There is a great deal of blue stone going out for general building purposes, despite the efforts that are always being made to substitute something else. The architects call for North River blue stone, but rather than pay the price for it, substitution is continually made of anything that will pass muster as a blue stone; but still enough of the genuine product goes into use steadily to keep us busy right along."

SLATE.

Mr. Jas. H. Kirtland, of 1123 Broadway, said: "The slate business is holding out fairly, yet, as there is so much small house building going on, which does not make much show individually, but which in the aggregate amounts to a great deal, and which, under the Board of Health rules calling for slate, is keeping things going with us pretty well. But no new work is coming in just now, and especially no large work, the bricklayers' strike in April having frightened off many large investors."

Gossip of the Week.

Manhattan contributed sixty-three items to the private sales market this week, and, strange to say, there were three sales of private houses in the fashionable residence district, which is more than has been reported in any one week for months. Two of the houses were on 51st st, one at No. 3 East, and one at No. 23 East, both being expensive houses. The third was a Columbia College leasehold lot. The rest of the business was the usual run of flats and tenements, with a slight increase in the Harlem section, in dealings in old buildings suitable for improvement. For the same week last year there were seventy-one transactions reported for Manhattan. The Bronx still more than holds its own, there being thirty-three sales reported from that borough, as against five for the corresponding week last year.

Comptroller Grout makes the following estimates for the tax rate for the coming fiscal year: The tax rate in 1903, for Manhattan and the Bronx, is 1.41367, and the estimate for 1904, 1.51349, an increase of .09982. The tax rate in 1903 for Brooklyn, 1.48945, and the estimate for 1904, 1,57303, an increase of .08358. The tax rate in 1903 for Queens is 1.47508, and the estimate for 1904, 1.57235, an increase of .09727. The tax rate in 1903 for Richmond is 1.49675, and the estimate for 1904, 1.59288, an increase of .09613. The estimated rates for corporations exempt from taxation for state purposes show about the same increases.

The Corporation Counsel has commenced condemnation proceedings against the following property alleged to be needed for an enlargement of the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn Bridge: Bounded by Park row, North William st, and the northern line of land of the Brooklyn Bridge; the block bounded by Centre st, Park row, Tryon row and Chambers st; the block bounded by Chambers st, City Hall Park, Reade st, Centre st, and Duane st, Duane and Park sts, with the southeast corner, 89 by 19.6 and irregular, and the block bounded by Centre, Pearl and Park sts. Justice Giegerich, after a long argument between Corporation Counsel Delany's representatives and a host of lawyers representing the property owners and leaseholders acceded to the request of Lewis L. Delafield to allow him thirty days to examine the papers submitted by the Corporation Counsel and file an answer to the city's petition. Mr. Delafield said the law under which the city obtained the authority to take the property, known as the "McCarren Act," is unconstitutional.

The WORLD OF BUILDING

The Labor Situation.

What portion of the depression now afflicting general business is chargeable to the troubles of last year in the building trades of the metropolis is an interesting question. It is assumed in some political quarters that the beginning of the illness was not in the circle of manufacturing, nor even in the iron and steel trades, which is supposed to be an industrial barometer; and certainly it was not in the agricultural department of national industry. The seat of the general business depression is said to be in the building trades of the country, and more particularly in the metropolitan building trades, and this diagnosis is not without reason.

When the snows were melting in the Spring of 1903, before the labor troubles began here, the business interests of the country were engaged up to the limit of facilities in all departments. More freight was being offered than the car capacity of railroads could conveniently accommodate; structural steel mills and cement manufacturers had but just caught up to their orders with the aid of the Winter embargo, so great had been the call for material from builders. Then came the lockout of the Association of Dealers in Masons' Materials, which was supported in a few days by the lumber dealers, mason builders and master carpenters. The effect was to completely stop all building, and though this was resumed in a measure when the yards were opened, not until near the close of the year was peace proclaimed. One might draw two pictures of national business activity, and entitle them "Before" and "After" the New York Building War. While some may not assent to the proposition that the labor revolution of 1903 in New York City was the beginning and main cause of the present industrial depression throughout the United States, without disparaging the real importance of our local building interests it cannot be gainsaid that the relation between activity in the building trades of New York City and prosperity throughout the country is close. And this being the case, our trade societies, individually and collectively, should realize the serious responsibilities with which they are charged whenever it is given to them to decide upon a course of action that will affect the real estate and building interests of the city at large.

The announcement in the Record and Guide last week of the signing of a treaty between employers and operatives in the bricklaying trade was received throughout the city with satisfaction. While the feature of higher wages, and, consequently, higher costs of building, was not approved of by real estate investors, the assurance of continued peace until 1906 was considered of more importance. As the increase will not go into effect until next March, contractors will have time to arrange for it. A prominent man among the bricklayers expressed the opinion this week that it was almost a certainty, as matters are now fixed, there can be no strike of any moment in any trade for two years to come.

A strike of organized teamsters, that would have brought to a standstill every truck in New York and, through sympathy, caused untold midsummer inconvenience and distress throughout the city, was recently averted by mutual conference, arranged through the efforts of the New York Civic Federation. Not only was the threatened strike averted, but out of an industrial controversy a satisfactory trade agreement, the first ever made between the organized New York truck-owners and teamsters, was evolved.

The agreement provides that there shall be no sympathetic strike during its term, which continues until April 30, 1905. The agreement is in the form of a contract. It is signed for the Truck Owners' Association by Thomas F. McCarthy, president, and for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters by Edward Gould, vice-president, and is witnessed by Marcus M. Marks, of the Civic Federation.

The contract fixes the hours for a day's work, including the time consumed in going to and from the stables; the rate of wages for the several classes of teamsters; the subject of overtime, about which there was much difficulty, its final adjustment being left to arbitration; and the question of the exclusive employment of union teamsters. The representatives of the teamsters, in view of the concessions that they had gained as to wages and hours, accepted the proposition that the truck-owners should agree not to discriminate against a driver because of his membership in the Brotherhood. The teamsters agreed to make no restriction or discrimination in the handling or trucking of any merchandise. The average increase of wages is about $1 a week, and the limit of ten hours for a day's work, excluding stabling, is a gain to the teamsters.

BALTIMORE.—Although plans have been sent out during the last three months for many of the largest structures to be erected, the rebuilding of the business section is hardly well under way. Only 174 building permits have been issued from the office of the building inspector. Some of these are for structures that will occupy several lots where there was formerly one building on each lot, but it may be safely estimated that building operations are proceeding on not more than 300 different properties. When it is taken into consideration that there were more than 2,000 buildings destroyed by the fire it will be seen that there is plenty of work ahead for both contractors and architects. Every day witnesses the projection of several new buildings, but the number of these reported daily is not as large as would be expected in the rebuilding of the center of a great city.

A 2-sty brick addition, 30x16 feet, will be built in the rear, the National Bank to occupy the entire floor, while the savings bank quarters will be moved down stairs and have an equally large floor area. The present front will be replaced by one of plate glass; $25,000.

QUINCY, Mass.—Herbert D. Hale, 92 William st, Manhattan, and H. G. Morse, Jr., of 603 Drexel bldg., Philadelphia, Pa., have just been commissioned to prepare plans for an office building for the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., to be erected at Quincy, Mass. The proposed scheme will be about 3-stories high, of Hartford brick and limestone, and will cost about $40,000. Bids will be invited by the architects.

NEWARK, N. J.—The plans of Welch, Smith & Provot, of 11 East 42d st, Manhattan, have been accepted and approved by the Building Committee of the Y. M. C. A. for a new structure to be erected at Church and Ellsworth sts, Newark, at a cost of $60,000. Bids will be received by the architect. Mr. Edward Barbour, of Newark, is chairman of the building committee.

PITTSBURG, PA.—The William Miller & Sons Company, Pittsburg, have the contract for the addition to the Carnegie Institute, their bid of $2,591,993 having been accepted. This is the largest building contract ever awarded any one company in Pittsburg, and under its terms the work is to be completed on February 1, 1906. The William Miller & Sons Company will be aided in the erection of the structure by 18 sub-contractors, and at times work will be in progress day and night. It is estimated that fully 1,000 men will be employed from the time the work is actively started. The building will contain 5,560 tons of steel, all of which will be furnished by the Carnegie Steel Company. The contract awarded does not include the plumbing and electric work, which will be given out later.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

With the Mayor's sanction, the salary of the chief clerk in the Brooklyn Bureau of Buildings will hereafter be $3,000 a year.

Improvements to cost $20,000, which sum has this week been provided for, will be made to the men's prison of the Raymond street jail in Brooklyn.

There is some talk in military circles of building a new armory for the Twenty-second Regiment north of 125th street. A committee of the Armory Board was at its last meeting directed to report on the matter.

A new firm, recently organized, to deal in new and second-hand building material, is the Geiser-Carmody Co., with office and yard at the junction of Grand st, Metropolitan and Stewart avs, Newtown Creek.

The Roof Maintenance Co., with offices at the northwest corner of 7th av and 124th st, are prepared to take charge of all kinds of roofs, and will guarantee to keep them watertight at reasonable rates. Their plastic cement roofing they guarantee for 15 years. Estimates for old and new work sent promptly.

The O'Rourke Engineering Construction Company have leased the entire tenth floor of the Century Building, No. 1 West 34th, to which they will move their offices on August 1st. This move was made necessary by lack of space at their present location, and, besides, the new place will be more convenient to their several plants.

Mr. A. L. Waterbury, who was at one time first vice-president and general manager of the Citizens' Telephone Co. of Houston, Texas, has accepted a position as general manager of the sales department of the American Conduit Co. Mr. Waterbury will have his headquarters at the Chicago office of this company, 1005-6 Manhattan building.

The plumbing and drainage rules of the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings, at Section 157 of Article 14, have been amended to read as follows: "After the completion of the work, when the water has been turned on and the traps filled, the plumber must apply a SMOKE test in the presence of a Plumbing Inspector and as directed by him, and no device shall be used to apply said test unless it has been approved by the Bureau of Buildings.

After July 15th, 1904, the Oxley-Enos Co. will be known as the Enos Company. No change will be made in the officers, board or management existing at present, but the policy of the company, directed by Mr. Alanson T. Enos, President, will be active and progressive, looking towards a constant betterment of facilities, both in the manufacturing and selling departments. The Oxley-Enos Company, Makers of Lighting Fixtures and Ornamental Metal Work, New York. Show-rooms: 371 Fifth av; office and factory: 16th st and 7th av.

When a delegation of builders and property-owners from the Bronx called at the Tenement House Department this week, complaining of a delay in examining and approving plans, Commissioner Crain replied that most of the delay was due to the methods of the architects. "If you gentlemen," he added, "will go from here as apostles and preach to the architects that the Tenement House Commissioner has no discretionary powers, but that he has to enforce the law without regard to seeming improvements in the law in the plans submitted, you will do more to cure the delay evil than you will by talking to the Commissioner."

The Snead & Co. Iron Works, makers of structural ornamental iron, and bronze work for buildings, have an immense plant at the foot of Pine st, Jersey City, and enjoy a reputation for turning out excellent material, and the promptness with which they fill all orders. They are furnishing the ornamental iron on the New City Hall, at Newark; John H. and Wilson H. Ely, architects.

Questions and Answers.

THE PERCENTAGE PLAN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A party of this city asked me if I could lay his cement sidewalk and he would pay all labor and material as per union wages. I sent him all my laborers and tools, and after all work was completed, I sent him bill, 10 per cent. of the cost, and he refused to pay. He sent me check for 10 per cent. on materials. The amount of work was $276. Should he pay on the materials alone, or on the whole cost? D. G. PECORA.

Answer.—On the whole cost.

LIFE INTEREST ONLY.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

The following clause appears in a deceased friend's will: "I give and bequeath all my estate, real and personal, whereof I may die possessed unto my beloved wife, to have and to hold the same to her, for, and during her natural life." Under it does the widow have only a life interest or estate; can she dispose of the real and personal estate at her pleasure as legatee?

Answer.—She has only a life estate, and can make no disposition for a period beyond her life.

A PRESUMPTION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A, an owner, rented to B an apartment, giving a lease for one year from November 1st. The lease was renewed each year for two more years, when B, wanting a change made in the lease which A refused to grant, no lease was given. B continued on as tenant, paying the rent monthly for three years. Now A wishes to increase the rent. Can he do so at any time, or must he wait until November 1st before he can demand an increase?

Answer—Presumption is of yearly renewal since last expressly made one. If in New York city the lease is now running from May to May, and if outside New York city from November to November. During such periods as the case may be, no change of rent can be made.

MUST KEEP THE HOUSE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A leases a house in Brooklyn for two years, paying the rent each month. At the end of the lease nothing is said about a renewal, but A continues living in the house. Can A now be compelled to take the house for two more years, or is he at liberty to move out when he pleases? M. L. B.

Answer.—A must now keep the house and pay rent until May 1st, 1905, at which time his tenancy expires. See Section 202, chapter 547, Laws of 1896, known as the Real Property Law.

The Bronx Court-House.

The Art Commission having approved of the modified plans for the Bronx Court House, the city authorities have appropriated $550,000 for its construction, in addition to a previous appropriation of $250,000, and have ordered the work to proceed. Last year the Corporation Counsel, when requested to give his opinion in this matter, said the Art Commission had no jurisdiction in the question of site. This year the Art Commission sent a letter of protest to the Board of Estimate, and requested the Comptroller, Mr. Grout, to set aside the decision of the Corporation Counsel. At the last meeting of the Board of Estimate, President Haffin took full responsibility for results that might follow the adoption of site and plans, and upon a motion of Mr. Grout, the Board unanimously approved of plans and site, and appropriated $550,000 to carry on the work. The Board of Aldermen ratified the decision of the Board of Estimate, so the Bronx will get the magnificent structure it has long hoped for.

Michael J. Garvin is the architect, and will superintend the structure. Oscar Bluemner, of 39 Cortlandt st, is the consulting architect. The building will contain four stories, basement and attic, and will be 107 feet high. The four sides will be faced with granite. Oscar Bluemner, who designed the building, followed the best models of Italian high Renaissance, especially that of a portion of the new Court House at Rome, but in detail of design he will follow the modern French.

It has been contended that the site was ill chosen, inasmuch as it has on one side 5-sty flats, and on the other the Elevated Railroad; but these difficulties have been in part overcome in the designing of the building, so that the better part will show above the top of the Elevated; and it is also said in this connection that the Elevated station, now at 161st st, where the building will be erected, is to be removed shortly to 162d st. The plans will be ready for estimate in about three months, and it is not improbable that the building will cost $1,000,000 before it is finished.

Lake and Rail Route to World's Fair, St. Louis.

A ride across Lake Erie on the wonderful steamers of the famous D. & B. Line is welcomed by the weary traveler like an oasis in the Desert of Sahara. These steamers are the finest on fresh water; parlors with bath; luxurious state-rooms; elegant saloons, and up-to-date dining-room service. Relieve a hot and dusty rail ride to the World's Fair by using the D. & B. Line between Detroit and Buffalo. Your railway ticket, if issued by Grand Trunk or Michigan Central Railways, will be honored either direction. Send 2c. for World's Fair folder. A. A. Schantz, Gen. Supt. and P. T. M., Detroit, Mich.

—A decision of interest to architects, contractors and builders has just been handed down by the Supreme Court of New Jersey. The State Board of Agriculture in that state issues licenses to architects. Recently the board refused to grant a license to Newman H. Raymond, of Jersey City, on the ground that he was not an architect, but merely a builder. When the case was brought into court it was shown that the applicant for a license, in addition to being a builder, had studied architectural construction and had satisfactorily constructed 37 buildings after plans and specifications drawn by himself. The court held that such an experience and record constituted one an architect, and ordered the license issued.

—Great changes will be brought about in Jersey when the new tunnels begin business. Manufacturing, as well as residential, expansion is expected, and money will be made in speculation. It is conceded that the improvements that will be made in transportation facilities by the trolley and railroad companies in the near future will be of great importance. The Public Service Corporation has been quietly working in two sections of Hudson County, and the preliminary steps towards a right of way across the Hackensack meadows from the Hackensack River to Frank's Creek, in Harrison, and a new power house in New Durham, are well under way. Plans have been made for the diversion of traffic from the Erie and Lackawanna terminals to the foot of 13th st, where there will be an entrance to the tunnel to New York City.
